Jen Who Knew Jesus

MOTHER MARY, who wept over Him

By JOHN J. STEWART

As Jesus hung in agony upon the cross, there stood near the foot of the cross, Mary, His mother, weeping.

All the anguish of helpless despair welled in her bosom as she watched her son slowly die, there on the bleak hill of Calvary. Every feeling of protective motherhood throbbed and wrenched through her frail body.

This was her son hanging upon the cross. Flesh of her flesh, soul of her soul. A man without sin. A man of love and kindness. A holy child. Her child. Dying in excruciating pain, and she could do nothing to help Him, to save Him, to shield Him from this awful hurt.

As she stood in helpless watch and waiting at the foot of the cross through that long day, a thousand memories rushed through Mary's mind. For 33 years, since she was a teen-ager, her whole life had been entwined with that of her firstborn, Jesus.

Ever since that day when the Angel Gabriel had appeared to her, saying, "Hail, thou who are highly favored. The Lord is with thee. Blessed art thou among women." She, Mary, had been chosen to become the Virgin Mother of the Christ Child, the Saviour and Redeemer of the world.

She remembered as though it were but yesterday that precious moment in the manger at Bethlehem. The moment of birth. And the moment when she first held the holy child in her arms and snuggled Him to her breast. Oh, if only now she could hold Him in her arms. Shield Him from pain. Take Him down from the cross and nurse His wounds, and comfort Him.

Mary vividly remembered too that day when the baby Jesus was a few weeks old and she and Joseph had carried Him to the temple here in Jerusalem, to consecrate His life unto the service of God. An old prophet named Simeon had greeted them in the temple and had taken the baby Jesus in his arms and blessed Him and praised God that he had lived to see Him.

It was this Simeon who had spoken the awful words of foreboding to Mary, words that had lived in her mind for 33 years, words which this day were being fulfilled in the horror of crucifixion of her son. Simeon, in looking upon the young Virgin Mother in the temple that day; had warned her that her son would meet dire opposition and that, "a sword shall pierce through thy own soul also."

And now He was nailed to a cross, by men of sin. Through tears Mary looked up at Jesus. Her son. Giving His life as an atonement for the sins of mankind. The Lamb of God. Her son.

Next—John, who dearly loved Him

SIHANOUK OVERTHROWN

Legislators Act In Cambodia

. . . PRINCE OUT OF COUNTRY

By PETER ARNETT

Saigon (AP) — Prince Norodom Sihanouk's long rule in Cambodia was ended Wednesday by a rebellious parliament. The lawmakers may have acted at the instigation of a general who quarreled with the chief of state over North Vietnamese and Viet Cong occupation of border provinces.

The Radio Phnom Penh announcement of his ouster reached Sihanouk in Moscow, where he had stopped on his way home from Paris. Before he left Moscow for Peking, he talked with the staff of the Cambodian Embassy.

The Peking correspondent of Japan's Kyodo news service reported that the prince arrived in Peking Thursday morning.

An American Broadcasting Co. correspondent in Moscow said Sihanouk told the staff he would form a government in exile if the Russians and Chinese do not recognize the new regime. But if recognition comes from the two big Communist powers, he added, this would be the end of him.

He 'Provoked' Crisis

The broadcast from the Cambodian capital said Sihanouk had "provoked" the political crisis in Cambodia, where in the past week crowds took to the streets in violent demonstrations against the presence of North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops in border regions.

It said the royal council, the upper house of parliament, and the national assembly, "unanimously withdrew their confidence in Prince Norodom Sihanouk."

"From this day," the broadcast continued, "the Prince Norodom Sihanouk ceases to be the chief of state of Cambodia and will be replaced by Cheng Heng, the president of the National Assembly."

A report received by the Saigon government said Gen. Lon Nol, premier and chief of the military services, and Sirik Matak, a high government minister, were the real powers in the new regime.

Lon Nol quarreled violently with Sihanouk in 1968 over the presence of North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops in Cambodia and on economic issues. Lon Nol resigned as premier, but later was reappointed.

Both Lon Nol and Sirak Matak frowned on Sihanouk's evasive neutrality policy, which sometimes was pro-American, more frequently pro-Communist.

The question in many minds was whether the parliament could make its action stick. Sihanouk has a strong hold on the Cambodian people, and Parliament took the classic route of waiting until he was out of the country to act.

Don't Sell Him Short

In Washington, for example, Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield said the ouster of Sihanouk "could well mean the end of Cambodia" but he declared: "Prince Norodom Sihanouk is one man in all of Asia whom I would not sell short."

Apparently the parliamentarians in Phom Penh also had some doubts.

Asian diplomats in Saigon said they received reports that Cambodian troops surrounded the parliament building during the deliberations. Troops also were stationed at the airport, which was closed to the outside world.

Radio Phnom Penh repeated the announcement of Sihanouk's ouster over and over, interspersing it with martial music.

The Cambodia Embassy in Singapore said the radio also reported: "The new head of state said Cambodia will follow the same policies of independence, neutrality, territorial integrity and will respect all international treaties signed by her."

Sihanouk considers Lon Nol a right-winger. In Paris, he first denounced the demonstrations in the Cambodian capital as provocations by right-wingers.

But on departing for Moscow and Peking, he said he was going to ask the Russians and the Chinese to help stop the infiltration of Cambodia by North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong.

IN HOUSE . . .

Reform Will Be Studied

Washington (AP) — The House Democratic leadership joined with its reform-minded challengers Wednesday in calling for a study that could lead to changes in the hallowed seniority system.

A month after the reformers suffered a decisive defeat in an attempt to unseat Speaker John W. McCormack, they won a victory with a greater potential for changing the House structure.

The key to their future success will depend in large part on whom McCormack selects to make the study.

Despite the tradition-shattering potential of the study resolution, it was passed by an overwhelming voice vote at a Democratic Party caucus, indicating the strength of the movement for congressional reform.

Offered By Albert

Majority leader Carl Albert of Oklahoma offered the resolution and McCormack, who is the immediate target of the reform group, told newsmen, "I had a lot of hand in passing it."

The resolution was drafted by Rep. Sam Gibbons, D-Fla., as a compromise between an earlier one proposed by the liberal Democratic Study Group and a more restrictive one originally favored by the leadership.

One change made in the caucus that disappointed the liberals will give the study committee until next January to make its report and recommendations. They wanted a report by June in order to allow for full discussions before Congress organizes in January.

The change in date was proposed by Rep. Wayne L. Hays, D-Ohio, who said the issue should be kept out of the coming congressional elections. His amendment was adopted, 110 to 46.

Result Of Fight

Gibbons' resolution was the outgrowth of a stormy meeting of the DSG Tuesday night at which leadership spokesmen tried to persuade the liberal group to approve a much narrower study. They failed, but the Florida congressman, a reform backer, came forward with a compromise that headed off a party-splitting fight.

As approved, the resolution calls for the appointment of an 11-member committee to study the organization of House committees, with specific reference to "the custom of seniority." The version originally favored by the leadership would have limited the study of the caucus rules, with no mention of seniority.

Gibbons' resolution provides that those chosen to serve on the committee shall be broadly representative.

Capital Improvement Program Is Outlined For Planning Unit

Lincoln's 1970-71 capital improvements program spells out needs estimated at either $15.5 million or $18.6 million, the City-County Planning Commission learned Wednesday.

The commission took the preliminary program under study and will discuss it with department heads at its meeting next Wednesday. There was no discussion of the program, which calls for expenditures over the next six years estimated to total either $89.8 million or $97.5 million.

After the commission makes its report, the program will be reviewed by Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf and his Capital Improvements Advisory Committee before submission to the City Council for final action this summer.

Difference In Totals

The difference between the totals is due to an alternative — and more expensive — sanitary sewer system program submitted for consideration.

The alternative program calls for the construction of a new sewage treatment plant in the Stevens Creek watershed area. The original program proposes the expansion of the present Theresa St. treatment plant, which, according to Public Utilities Director Lee Blocker, is 25% overloaded.

The city's Water Advisory Board has recommended the construction of the second treatment plant, costing $7.4 million (including $3.7 million during the 1970-71 fiscal year) instead of any expansion at the present plant.

The alternative program also outlines $15,368,000 in capital improvement needs over the next six years, $5,712,000 of which would be spent in the 1970-71 year.

Expansion Cost

Blocker estimated the cost to expand the present plant at $3.89 million.

In his written report to the planning commission, Planning Director Douglas Brogden noted that if the alternative proposal is approved, "it would seem necessary to restudy (and possibly alter) all other elements of the capital improvements program."

"Even if industrial development is to occur within the Stevens Creek area it would seem premature to adopt such a singular proposal until all of the elements of development have been investigated through revision of the comprehensive plan (for community development)" Brogden said.

Proposed Expenditures Listed On Page 31

Basic Decision

He added that the basic decision to develop Stevens Creek will probably be made in conjunction with the decision on the zoning for the 880-acre tract northeast of Lincoln for an anonymous firm.

Capital improvement projects, other than that for the Stevens Creek watershed, were generally in the area anticipated for the projected urbanization of the city, Brogden said.

The planning director added that Lincoln appears to be growing at a much slower rate than anticipated. "We are using only about three-tenths of a square mile of land around the outside edge of the city per year," Brogden said.

Other Than Property Tax

Much of the proposed expenditures would be financed by funds other than property tax monies.

In fact, street improvements — the most expensive item in the capital improvements program — does not list any revenues from the property tax.

The streets and highways program, totaling $26.9 million over the next six years and $4.8 million for the 1970-71 fiscal year, would be paid out of wheel tax, state aid and federal aid funds.

Northeast Radial

Funds proposed for the Northeast Radial total $9.6 million from 1970-76 and $1.6 million for 1970-71.

Also included for funding during the next six years are the channelization of major intersections, the widening of 27th St. from Capitol Parkway to Cornhusker Hwy., the widening of A St. from Capitol Parkway to 52nd St., the widening of 48th from M to Newton and from P to Superior, the widening of 70th St. from O St. to Everett, and the widening of South St. from 62nd to 70th.

Another major portion of the program is for Lincoln Electric System (LES) improvements. The public utility proposes to spend $24.1 million over the next six years on such things as street lighting, steam heat, power plant operations, transmission and electrical distribution.

Park Department

The Park and Recreation Department lists in its $1.4 million program for the 1970-71 fiscal year improvements in nearly every city park. Total six-year cost is $9.6 million.

Additional parking and a new patient floor are slated for Lincoln General Hospital during the next three years. How to finance the two items, costing $1.5 million for the three-year period, has not been determined.

3 Students Electrocuted After Power Line Shot

. . . One Girl Escapes Burning Car

Norfolk (AP)— Three students at Northeast Nebraska College at Norfolk were electrocuted late Wednesday in a freak accident on a county road about nine miles southwest of Norfolk.

Another student escaped injury.

The Madison County attorney's office identified the victims as Carolyn Osborn, 21, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Osborn of rural Norfolk; Miles Patton, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Patton of Norfolk, and Donald Strate, 18, son of Mrs. Edith Strate of Hoskins.

Christie Graber, 19, daughter of Darrell Graber of Norfolk, escaped injury.

State Patrol investigators said it appeared that someone in the car had been shooting a rifle at insulators on power line poles when a bullet severed a line and it fell on the car. The line carried 7,200 volts.

According to the patrol, it appeared that when one young man alit from the car he caused a ground. He and the two others were electrocuted.

Miss Graber swung herself through a backseat window by using a seat belt.

The car was destroyed by fire and the victims burned beyond recognition.

Community Participation Said Needed To Change Cities

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Harvard Law School Professor Adam Yarmolinsky Wednesday said the problems of America's cities must be resolved through a combination of more federal financial assistance and community participation.

"Only community participation and organization can change the cities in the radical ways that they must be changed," Yarmolinsky told University of Nebraska students.

The proposal to create new cities throughout the nation is "a promising way of making a fresh start," the former Kennedy administration assistant said.

Not Ready

"But I don't see the current administration being ready to put its money where its mouth is."

Yarmolinsky addressed Wednesday's sessions of the World In Revolution conference sponsored by NU student organizations.

Black activist Muhammad Kenyatta told students at an afternoon panel discussion that blacks would be making a mistake if they think their problems can be resolved through "isolated local community organizations."

Blacks are "oppressed nationally," he said, and must "develop as a nation of people . . . girding ourselves for nation-building and for national liberation."

'New Expression'

The so-called white backlash which such activity may bring is only "a new expression of the same old attitude called racism," Kenyatta said.

Blacks must face the fact that they live in "a nation which is racist at best and genocidal at its rapidly approaching worst," he declared.

Kenyatta will address students at the final conference session Thursday morning.

Develop Strategy

Earlier, Martin Oppenheimer, sociologist and author, told students that liberals and radicals should "develop a coherent strategy" if they are to shape social changes.

The "textbook of revolution," he suggested, is the Wall Street Journal. That newspaper should help activists determine their strategy for it "contains the strategic clues to social change," Oppenheimer said.

Oppenheimer said "the weird administration in Washington" fails to understand its own interests.

Giving poor blacks and poor whites "a piece of the system" would help give the administration peace in the land, he suggested.

Answering student questions, Yarmolinsky characterized President Nixon's nomination of Judge G. Harrold Carswell to a seat on the U.S. Supreme Courts as "terrible."

If the President insists on having a Southerner, he said, he could choose from "any number of distinguished justices in the Deep South" in preference to "a man so lacking in judicial competence and temperament."

'Step Forward'

Nixon's welfare reform program would be "a great step forward," Yarmolinsky said. But, the minimum income floor which the President would provide for recipients is "pathetically inadequate."

However, he suggested, one must understand the realities of "little steps for little feet."

Yarmolinsky said busing is "a very unhappy solution to the problems of school segregation. I'm not sure I even favor busing the children of parents who do not want them bussed."

Actually, he noted, wise policies of desegregation throughout American society could avoid the use of busing school students.

Cambodian Prince Overthrown, Radio Says

(c) New York Times News Service

Bangkok — The Phnom Penh radio announced that Prince Sihanouk, the Cambodian chief of state, had been overthrown. Power was apparently seized by Lt. Gen. Lon Nol, the premier and defense minister, and Prince Sisowath Sirik Matak, first deputy premier. The prince has been abroad. (More on Page 1.)

Washington Seems Surprised

Washington — Officials in Washington seemed surprised by the overthrow of Prince Sihanouk of Cambodia, which came after a week of government-inspired protests against the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese. The attitude in Washington appeared to be concern over possible extension of the Vietnam War into Cambodia, coupled with a belief that Sihanouk may still emerge as a factor in Cambodian politics.

Modern Missiles In Egypt

New York — A large number of Russian troops and modern antiaircraft missiles arrived in Egypt last week, according to reliable diplomatic sources in Cairo. (More on Page 30.)

Command Gap Found

Washington — Two separate Army command channels apparently failed to report news of the alleged Song My massacre to higher commands, the Pentagon investigation into the incident has discovered. Not only did some American officers fail to forward American reports, it was found, but other officers failed to forward South Vietnamese reports.

Judicial Rules Changed

Washington — Chief Justice Warren E. Burger announced a new procedure to turn up possible conflicts of interest involving federal judges. (More on Page 22.)

Mine Union Chief In Denial

Washington — President W. A. (Tony) Boyle of the United Mine Workers of America denied "to the best of my recollection" that he had sought to influence the vote of a second trustee of the $179-million UMW. Welfare and Retirement Fund, Inc., by telling him that he had the "proxy" vote of the third trustee on a crucial pension increase proposal. But when a later witness contradicted him, Boyle said: "I make a lot of statements that I forget." (More on Page 19.)

Easier Money Ahead

Washington — In a policy change that has allowed the first growth in the money supply since last June, the Federal Reserve Board has moved in the last few weeks to ease its extremely restrictive monetary policy. (More on Page 2.)

Reform Will Be Studied

Washington — The congressional seniority system will be studied by a special Democratic study group agreed upon in a compromise between House, Democratic liberals and conservatives. (More on Page 1.)

Abortion Bill Liberal

Albany, N.Y. — A bill that would allow a pregnant woman and her doctor to decide whether she would have an abortion was passed by the state senate, 31 to 26. If the bill passes the assembly and is signed, it would replace the state's 19th century abortion law with one of the most liberal measures in the country.

Mail Stops In New York

Mail Halted In New York

New York (AP) — Federal court back-to-work orders were issued Wednesday in an effort to halt an illegal strike of letter carriers that tied up all government mail service in metropolitan New York, the world's business and financial capital.

There was no indication whether an estimated 50,000 postal workers would respond to the court mandates and return to their jobs.

In an area of 10 million persons, no U.S. mail was coming in, none going out. National headquarters of giant Manhattan-based corporations were affected. So were housewives in Brooklyn and Queens apartments and mistresses of Long Island mansions. Overseas mail was stacked up at Kennedy Airport, not moving in either direction.

Mail destined for American servicemen overseas was caught in the tieup. However, the union said Wednesday night it would allow Army postal clerks to cross picket lines to handle the military mail.

Into Local Storage

A national embargo already had diverted tens of millions of items addressed to New York, into storage in post offices across the nation for the duration of the strike, the first of its magnitude in American postal history.

The government took its case to courts in Manhattan and Brooklyn, amid indications the strike for higher wages might spread. Letter carriers in Milwaukee, Houston, northern New Jersey and half a dozen additional suburban New York cities were considering sympathy strikes.

Gus Johnson, head of a striking local of the AFL-CIO National Association of Letter Carriers, publicly appealed to his members in Manhattan and the Bronx to obey a federal court injunction there to end the strike. A Brooklyn court issued a similar order covering the rest of the city and Long Island.

Johnson's men spearheaded a Tuesday midnight strike that drew quick support from the other mailmen, and their picket lines were observed by mail handlers and other postal workmen.

Three-Day Notice

Jack Leventhal, president of the Brooklyn-Queens local, said the union's constitution required a three-day notice before any membership meeting. Thus no vote on ending the strike could be taken before Saturday.

That left it up to the individual strikers to decide whether to return on their own. Despite the back-to-work edict, only about 12% of 6,000 night shift workers reported for duty at Manhattan's huge General Post Office.

"We knew we were in violation of federal law before we went out and we're out to stay," Leventhal declared. The law prohibits strikes by government employes.

"The men I spoke to will defy any injunction — they will stay out until hell freezes over," said Herman Sandbank, the branch executive vice president. "If the strike accelerates at the present rate, in 48 hours there will be no mail service in the United States."

Pay Ordered Forfeited

In Washington, Postmaster General Winton M. Blount ordered that the strikers forfeit their pay while they are idle. He declined to speculate on further steps that would be taken if the injunction was defied.

Blount told a news conference that he and President Nixon "are deeply concerned about this situation, since the mail system is the lifeblood of the economy and millions of Americans rely on it for their very survival."

At the heart of the dispute involving 50,000 postal workers in this area was congressional deferment of long-sought wage increases. Union officials claimed that low wages have forced many postmen to seek welfare benefits.

The mailmen long have demanded an $8,500 to $11,700 a year wage scale to replace the present salary range of $6,100 to $8,442 over a 21-year period of service.

Postal Union Man Claims Wages Lag

According to a spokesman for organized postal clerks here in Lincoln, the government's own figures show that by the end of 1970 postal employes' wages will be 19 months and at least 20% behind comparable rates in private industry.

George Rothenbach, legislative chairman of Local 112, United Federation of Postal Clerks, AFL-CIO, cited the latest findings of the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics which show that comparable private wages advanced 5.74% last year.

Rothenbach said that if Congress heeds the Nixon Administration budget recommendations delaying federal pay raises until January 1, 1971, the present one-year lag will be lengthened to 19 months.

He said the survey to which comparability and federal pay raises are geared is based on national wage averages in private enterprise as of June, 1969, which "makes them more than eight months out of date already."

Post Office Told Not To Accept New York Mail

The Lincoln Post Office said Wednesday it had received instructions not to accept mail to the New York City area.

Postal officials said no mail for the embargoed zip code areas would be accepted at Post Office windows. Mail for the affected area that is deposited in postal boxes will be held until the embargo is lifted, they said.

The embargo affects all classes of mail destined for New York City (100—), Bronx (104—), Brooklyn (112—), Flushing (113—), Far Rockaway (116—), Jamaica (114—), Long Island (111—) Staten Island (103—), Hicksville (118—), Mineola (11501) and Riverhead (11901).

Chief Banker Hints At 'Easier' Money

World News

Washington (AP) — Chairman Arthur F. Burns indicated Wednesday the Federal Reserve Board already has started its long looked-for move toward easier money to keep the economy balanced between inflation and recession.

When asked during testimony before the Senate Banking Committee whether the reserve system would "lead interest rates down or follow them down," the former counselor to President Nixon replied:

"All I can tell you, senator, is that we have not been idle at the Federal Reserve Board. I shall stop there."

In prepared testimony on the state of the economy, Burns noted that the money supply "has grown moderately in recent weeks." Until last month the reserve system had permitted no increase since last June.

Recession Feared

A visible cooling of the economy in recent weeks has led to some forecasts of recession and urgent calls from the financial markets for a loosening of the government's tight anti-inflation reins.

The cooling trend was supported Wednesday by Commerce Department announcements that corporation profits dropped in the last quarter of 1969 to an annual rate of $91.6 billion seasonally adjusted, or $4 billion below the record rate of last spring; and that personal income in February gained only $3.3 billion, about $500 million below the January increase.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., saying that the Federal Reserve's own figures showed a decrease in the money supply in the first two months of this year, asked Burns for some definite testimony that the monetary policy has been eased.

Different Trend

Burns replied that Proxmire would see a different trend in the money supply if he would examine the weekly figures for February. Then he added:

"And that is very important."

It generally requires a month or more to detect shifts in the money supply. Figures for recent weeks have shown no clear trend, but an "easing" of money could occur with no significant change in the quantity available if the demand for money was lessening at the same time.

Burns replied with a firm "Yes" when asked by Sen. Wallace F. Bennett, R-Utah, whether he expects the prime rate — the interest charged by banks to their safest borrowing risks — to drop from its present 8½% level by the end of this year.

"I hope very soon," Burns added.

Tight Controls

Burns noted in his prepared testimony, however, that the Nixon administration's budget calls for tight controls over federal spending to prevent excessive demand from reinforcing inflationary pressures.

He recalled that he said a month ago that the Federal Reserve Board realizes that monetary policies as severe as those pursued in the last half of 1969 "could not continue indefinitely."

Wounded Pilot Lands Jet; Copilot Killed Near Boston

Boston (AP) — Copilot James E. Hartley was shot fatally, but managed to wound his assailant in a wild struggle in the cockpit of a mile-high Eastern Airlines plane, the wounded pilot was quoted as saying Wednesday.

The shooting took place Tuesday night as the plane approached Boston on a shuttle flight from Newark, N.J. The airline said a crew of five and 66 passengers were aboard.

Wounded in both arms, Capt. Robert Wilbur Jr., of Fair Lawn, N.J., managed nevertheless to bring the plane to a safe landing at Logan International Airport. The shooting took place as the plane made its final turn 30 miles from Boston before approaching to land.

Ex-Cook Charged

John J. DiVivo, 27, a bearded former short-order cook from West New York, N.J., was the wounded passenger, charged with murder in the slaying of Hartley.

A statement issued by the airline told the story of the wounded captain, under treatment at Massachusetts General Hospital:

"Capt. Wilbur said that when he banked the aircraft for the turn, DiVivo appeared surprised and began firing his weapon."

Order Not Clear

The airline quoted Wilbur as telling State Police Sgt. Edward Gillis he did not remember whether he or Hartley was shot first.

". . . He did remember Hartley grappling with DiVivo for the gun, taking the gun from DiVivo and shooting DiVivo twice.

"Capt. Wilbur said he did not remember when he took the gun, but that he did remember First Officer Hartley slumped in his seat, DiVivo lying on the cockpit floor between the two seats, and striking DiVivo with the weapon when he attempted to rise," the statement said.

HARTLEY . . . killed.

DI VIVO . . . charged.

DiVivo was wounded in the chest, abdomen and right arm.

Hartley died of a gunshot wound in the chest.

The incident occurred after DiVivo told a stewardess collecting fares that he didn't have enough money for the $21 fare and wanted to talk to the plane captain.

The stewardess took him to the flight deck door after he drew a gun.

Thieu Says Cooperation With Cambodia Possible

Saigon (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu raised the possibility Wednesday of a Cambodian-South Vietnamese "common plan" against Communist command forces entrenched in border sanctuaries.

He told a group of visiting Asian journalists that the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops operating along the ill-defined border area "could never stay there" if the plan was arranged.

"The problem is one between our two countries," he said. "If the Cambodians ask me to help them protect the common border, then maybe we could do it."

After Ouster

Thieu's comments came shortly before he was handed a dispatch from Radio Phnom Penh saying neutralist Prince Norodom Sihanouk had been overthrown as chief of state of Cambodia.

However, there has been unofficial cooperation between Cambodian forces and South Vietnamese troops in the past. Cambodian and South Vietnamese troops conducted parallel sweeps against the Viet Cong along the border northwest of Saigon last May.

Shortly before Thieu spoke, a government spokesman denied that South Vietnamese artillery went to support Cambodian troops trying to drive Viet Cong forces into South Vietnam Sunday and Monday.

Informants Reliable

A day earlier, highly reliable informants told Associated Press correspondent Peter Arnett that a Cambodian officer had asked for and received artillery support from a district chief in South Vietnam's Chau Doc Province southwest of Saigon.

Thieu laughed when questioned by a newsman about the reported use of South Vietnamese artillery in support of the Cambodians — which senior officials in Chau Doc province had confirmed.

"We don't do that sort of thing, either officially or unofficially," asserted Thieu.

He went on to say that initial approaches to Cambodian-South Vietnamese cooperation on border operations would have to be made "under the table," and not officially.

They Exist Already

Such unofficial arrangements already exist, primarily trying to maintain a semblance of control over the rampant smuggling that takes place along the border.

The Cambodian foreign ministry demanded last week that North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops be withdrawn from Cambodian territory by dawn last Sunday.

The allied commands reported there still was no large-scale enemy movement along the border, although U.S. forces claimed to have killed 51 enemy troops Tuesday north and northwest of Saigon in four clashes two to seven miles from the frontier.

NFO Transports Corn To Kansas City Market

. . . 'Selling' New Type Demonstration For Group

By GLENN KREUSCHER
Farm Editor

A new type of demonstration for the National Farmers Organization originated here Wednesday morning at the Nebraska State Fairgrounds as NFO members turned to "selling" instead of "holding" farm products.

This time the product was corn — nearly 125 truckloads — in a caravan leaving the Capital City area and headed down Highway 77, 300 feet apart and stretching nearly seven miles in length, with the destination Kansas City.

Assembling the major part of the caravan in a spring snowstorm the NFO members explained the demonstration was to illustrate to what lengths farmers must go to deliver grain from a low price area during the boxcar shortage, to Missouri where a demand exists for corn at a higher price.

"It appears to us that some one has developed a situation of a low price area by not being able to move corn out of the area. We have made this sale to the Kansas City area and we are delivering the corn as we discuss farm problems en route," explained those in charge of the caravan.

Some of those problems NFO members want to talk about while delivering corn are headed with the "urgency" they see in the administration and Secretary of Agriculture Cliff Hardin listening to the NFO and nearly 30 other farm and commodity groups who are warning Hardin of the dangers he faces in attempting to scuttle the present farm legislation for lower support prices and less income for farmers.

Signs Reflect Feelings

Some of the signs were an indication of the farmers' feelings with one saying "Spineless Wonder Hardin." Others said "Cheap Grain and High Taxes" while a number of them stressed the importance of farmers organizing to gain a momentum in securing a voice for the farmer.

Characteristic with previous NFO demonstrations, a deeply religious and safety conscious atmosphere prevailed as trucks from pick-up to giant grain sized units rolled in to Lincoln from throughout Nebraska to join the group.

Snow was covering farmers fast as Catholic and Protestant clergymen offered a prayer for the safety and dedication of the farmers seeking to tell their story of a lack boxcars to transport agricultural products, low farm prices and a constant squeeze on income as government leaders seem reluctant to listen to the plight of the nation's No. 1 industry.

"This is the only farm organization that could muster this kind of strength in a snowstorm," said a Burt County farmer.

Selecting a route that was led and followed by radio controlled units, the trucks planned to take Highway 77 to Marysville, Kan., for refueling. From here the route was to Kansas Highway 75 and then south to meet the Kansas Turnpike at Topeka. Other trucks from Kansas were expected to join the group.

"Just say we are selling the corn in the Kansas City area," said one NFO member.

The NFO contract number of 7538 was repeated often as farmers completed filling out NFO grain delivery forms for the sale of their corn.

Late Winter Snowstorm Gives Sidney 8-Inch Fall

Snowfall ranging up to over nine inches at Sidney and seven inches at Imperial and Alliance covered most of Nebraska Wednesday, defying the scheduled arrival of spring Friday.

Highways in much of the western section of the state were described as hazardous. The description was applied by the State Patrol to roads north and west of a line drawn through Valentine and Grand Island.

The report said surfaces had some slush and were from 10 to 100% snowpacked.

Light Snow In East

In the Lincoln, Omaha, Blair, Fremont, Seward and David City areas, there was light snow and wet road surfaces. There was no snow, but surfaces were wet in the Beatrice, Auburn and Dorchester areas.

All rural schools in Scotts Bluff County were closed Wednesday along with the schools at Sunflower, Lyman, Morrill and Melbeta. Other schools were open but did not run buses. The only school in the county operating normally was Gering, which maintains bus routes within the city and to Terrytown.

Banner County School at Harrisburg was also closed.

Frontier Airlines at Scottsbluff reported five flights cancelled as of Wednesday due to slick snow-covered runways, a 400-foot ceiling and three-eighths of a mile visibility.

Snow plows were out in the Panhandle where a coating of ice from before the snow came, making travel extremely hazardous.

The moisture will be good for wheat and rangeland, but hard on young stock and sheared sheep, ag observers said.

North Platte reported six inches of snow, with two inches at Grand Island.

4-State PCA Loans Exceed $500 Million

Omaha (AP) — The Omaha Farm Credit District, which includes Production Credit Associations in Iowa, Nebraska, South Dakota and Wyoming, reported that loans outstanding have passed the half-billion-dollar mark.

Herman W. Frerichs Jr., president of the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Omaha, said the figure represents nearly a $100 million increase from 1960.

The 40 associations in the four states are owned by farmer and rancher borrowers and are provided loan funds by the Omaha Credit Bank.

Funds Sought To Start Mid-State By 1974

Washington (AP) — Representatives of Nebraska's Mid-State Project have been told that the Bureau of Reclamation will attempt to obtain funds to speed up planning to allow for the beginning of construction in 1974.

Ellis Armstrong, bureau commissioner, and other bureau officials met with Wallace Peterson of Kearney, chairman of the Mid-State Board; Darrell McCostrich, engineer-manager, and Walter Lauritsen, attorney for the Mid-State Reclamation District, both of Grand Island.

Armstrong told the Nebraskans the bureau recognizes the critical need for the project and said that at the rate the water table is dropping in the area, a critical situation could develop by 1980.

He said the bureau will seek $400,000 in planning funds for fiscal 1971, $500,000 to $750,000 for fiscal 1972 and $500,000 to $600,000 for fiscal 1973, with work starting the next year on the project now estimated to cost about $124 million.

The administration's budget for the coming fiscal year includes $200,000 in planning money.

Band Of Young Blacks Vandalize Five Stores

Omaha (UPI) — A roving band of young Negroes, estimated at over 100, smashed windows and vandalized stores in downtown Omaha Wednesday afternoon.

"Several" were arrested, police said, but acknowledged the number was under 10.

Damage was reported to at least five establishments, including the giant Brandeis department store complex.

Brandeis Superintendent Ray Powers said the crowd came into the store about 3:20 p.m. He described the crowd as huge, and all were Negroes. He said the youths came in through the second floor entrance and went down an escalator to the main floor. Then, he said, they threw ties, shirts and other articles of apparel into the air.

A number of watches were stolen and several bottles of perfume "busted," Powers said.

Although not labeling Central High School students as being involved, Powers said "Central is the closest." He said it was a "flash type of thing . . . possibly caused by unhappiness over the Loder case decision."

He referred to a District Court verdict Tuesday which found former police officer James Loder, a white, innocent in the shooting death last June 24 of Vivian Strong, 14, a Negro, during a breakin investigation.

A number of paddy wagons, police cars and motorcycles were in the downtown area after the incident.

Henry Pollard, Negro security officer at the J. C. Penney store, said the Loder case "was it" when questioned about the cause of the vandalism. Pollard said several of the youngsters were "cussing and calling names."

Pollard also confirmed there had been vandalism at the adjacent Woolworth's variety store. He said candy had been tossed to the floor and trampled upon.

V. C. Piesik, a spokesman for Woolworths, said, however, it was a normal business day. Piesik spoke of the treatment the store had allegedly received from the news media in a disturbance a year earlier, indicating he was not too eager to give information to newsmen.

"We had the same afternoon crowd," he said. "Business was as usual."

Pollard and other witnesses disputed this.

Bill Freed, representative of Malashock's Jewelers, said a window was broken out and watches and other jewelry stolen. He also had no immediate estimate of damage.

All of the damage was in a two-block area in the heart of the downtown Omaha area.

Another possible contributing cause was the arrest last Saturday night of several Negro youths during a disturbance following the state Class A basketball championships here. A Negro team was defeated in the tournament final.

Volzke Entry First In Hog Carcass Meet

Fremont — A Hampshire entry owned by Harold Volzke of Utica took first place in the carcass contest held in conjunction with the Midwest Market Hog Show here last week.

Following the live show, entries were slaughtered and carcass data gathered and compiled with Volzke's entry having the highest average per cent ham and loin of the show, according to Dr. Charles Adams, University of Nebraska meats scientist who headed the evaluation team.

The owners of the top 10 entries and the breed represented following Volzke's winner were: Peggy Beck, Fremont, Hampshire; Aloyce Volzke, Utica, Hampshire; Maurice Eickman, Templeton, Iowa, Hamp-York Crossbred; Tim McGuire, Wisner, Hampshire; Chuck Beck, Fremont, Hampshire; Meinolph Throener, West Point, Hampshire; John Maahs, Lincoln, Hampshire; Merlyn Steffensmeier, Dodge, crossbred; and McQuire Hampshire Farm, Wisner, Hampshire.

Twenty-four of the top 30 entries were Hampshires or Hampshire crossbreds.

Central High Emptied After Bomb Threat

Omaha (AP) — Omaha Central High School was evacuated in a fire drill Wednesday noon after a telephone bomb threat was received, the 13th reported in Omaha in two days.

Police searched the building.

A similar evacuation and search followed a threat at Morton Junior High School Tuesday; City Hall was evacuated at 4 p.m. Tuesday after a phoned threat; and 10 other threats involved various buildings and businesses.

Beaver Crossing Girl Chosen Delegate To Italy In 4-H Event

Susan Eberspacher, 18, Beaver Crossing, has been chosen as Nebraska's delegate to Italy as a 4-H Teen Caravan participant.

She is one of 98 older 4-H members from around the United States selected to participate in a two-month experience of living and working with farm families in another country.

The objective of the 4-H Teen Caravan program, sponsored by the National 4-H Club Foundation, is to learn another way of life by living it, according to Dr. John Orr, associate state 4-H and YMW leader.

Reports June 21

Miss Eberspacher will report to the National 4-H Foundation on June 21, for pre-departure orientation and fly to Italy for her host family program. She will participate in an educational tour of Europe from Aug. 9-18 and fly home from Amsterdam, The Netherlands, Orr said.

Miss Eberspacher has been an active member of the Seward County 4-H program. She showed the grand champion market lamb at the 1967 State Fair and also has been active in home economics projects.

Nursing Home Campaign Set Up

Wood River — Thirty-five campaign leaders, representing a 400-square-mile area, will meet here March 30 to launch a campaign to raise $90,000 for a new Western Hall County Nursing Home.

Funds from the drive will be used to equip the 60-bed home which will be built and operated by the Good Samaritan Society. Cost of the project is $375,000.

The society estimates that one third of the residents of the home, to be located on the north edge of Wood River, will be on county welfare rolls.

Lincoln Man, 24, Critical After Blaze

A 24-year-old Lincoln man was in critical condition at Lincoln General Hospital with burns suffered in a mattress fire in his apartment early Wednesday.

Police identified the man as Gene Daniels of 3321 T.

Authorities said Daniels suffered burns to the lower extremities of his body and his face and some damage to his lungs.

Fire officials said the blaze apparently started while Daniels was smoking in bed.

EVENTS

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

You have to wonder now and then what the world is coming to. Several weeks ago, Lincoln High School played East High School in a district basketball tournament. Following the game, numerous fights broke out and a number of young people were well bloodied up when it was all over.

Some of the young people were victims of circumstances, attacked by a gang with no provocation. The affair was described in public reports as something like a scuffle.

Last week, Northeast played Omaha Tech in Omaha for the Class A championship. Again, following the game there was fighting around the Omaha Civic Auditorium and, again, some people were bloodied up. This was described in news accounts as an "incident."

The report on both the Lincoln and Omaha affairs was that none was seriously injured. The whole matter is a ridiculous glossing over of the truth. As near as we can tell, some severe beatings were administered and that is hardly what you would call an incident.

If your child came home after a night out and his face and clothes were bloody, he had perhaps lost a tooth and his eyes were black, would you call it an incident or a scuffle? At our house, the roof would be raised.

It is not to be assumed that the schools playing the games were responsible for the trouble that broke out. In the Lincoln episode, nobody seems to really know who started it all. In Omaha, the same thing is true and there are some reports that the trouble there was started by adults, not students.

But it is high time that we begin to find out who starts such things. It is time we looked at such things for what they are and time we started doing something about it.

It is not an incident when five or six thugs—and that is what they are—beat another boy so badly that he falls to the ground. And it is not an incident when these thugs then proceed to beat and kick the boy until they have satisfied their lust for violence.

This kind of thing, the kind of thing that has now happened in both Omaha and Lincoln, is not just an emotional explosion between two boys but is a premeditated assault among people, be they adults or young people.

On the fringes of these episodes is generally the matter of civil rights. Some say the conflicts are an expression if not the direct result of segregation while others say black and white had nothing to do with it.

That really doesn't make much difference. There are no laws in our land which permit one person to assault another, much less a gang to beat up an individual. Not even the frustrations and animosities of segregation are grounds for violence, even though they might serve as an explanation.

And the insanity of prejudice lacks even a basis for existence, much less a purpose for its implementation in the form of violence or any other way.

The black person, young or old, man or woman, cannot justify the flouting of order in society and the freedom of others to move around without fear of their physical well-being.

The white person, young or old, man or woman, cannot justify it, either. There is no privilege of color, either in the utilization of our freedoms or the conformance to our laws. Nor does the sickening reality of continued discrimination constitute a legal basis for lawlessness. Lawlessness will never serve the cause of equality and freedom and those who think otherwise, on either side of the color fence, are living a dream whose only destiny is to become a nightmare.

The violence that now threatens every athletic event held between high schools of the area is a mockery of our social consciousness, a trampling of our democracy and an insult to our freedom.

If this sort of thing is allowed to continue and is constantly white-washed, we will reap a harvest of human degradation in our state.

'Here's A Little Trick I Picked Up From Lyndon Johnson . . .'

Fascism In Our Future?

"I can't remember a time in American history when the top men in government appealed to what they know were the worst instincts of people, and as a result they who campaigned on bringing us together have torn us more asunder. They're appealing to the ignorant against the educated, to the South and the Midwest against the so-called intellectuals in the East. They're giving the impression that New York, Washington and Berkeley are just places full of communists."

The result may be, says William L. Shirer, journalist, historian and chronicler of Germany's Third Reich, a legal, fascist dictatorship in the United States in the future.

The U.S., Shirer said in a Los Angeles Times interview, might be the first nation to go fascist by the democratic vote—something not even the Germans or Italians did. He feels that the American people, much as the post-World War I Germans, are fed up with minorities and political protest and would trade the Bill of Rights for any system that would promise and maintain "law and order." It would take an economic downturn to accomplish this, he hypothisizes, but in an affluent society turned to one of hardship (again, much as Germany after the first war), the people would consent to a "very right-wing society and government in which freedom would be greatly restricted."

Shirer tempers his morbid view of the future with an idea of his that Americans are "very lucky people" and may escape the political repression the seeds of which are now implanted in fertile soil. There is no worthy leadership now, according to Shirer, but he hopes that a first class leader "with some sense" might show up in the next 25 years.

Shirer may be dismissed as an old man who is seeing indistinct images of what he experienced and reported to the world upwards of 30 years ago. But he is still one of the great authorities on what causes an intelligent people to move willingly and violently to the right. Shirer is only suggesting a possibility, but his warning shouldn't be ignored.

Challenge Of Education

Gov. Norbert Tiemann has begun what will prove to be a most formidable task — acquainting people with the real facts on taxation and state spending. This he does because the reported tax revolts taking place here and there are a threat to his political future.

If people understand the tax situation, he believes, his future is more secure. If they do not understand, he could be in trouble.

One focal point of all this is the initiative petitions being circulated by the Committee of Parents and Concerned Taxpayers (COPACT). The organization is largely an anti-spending group strongly backed by the highly conservative Nebraska School Improvement Association.

COPACT backs two petitions, one to limit all state and local governmental spending to a 5 per cent increase over the previous budgeting period and one to impose an intangible tax in the event of mandatory unified school district.

Both issues would be fatal blows to Nebraska. The spending lid proposal is promoted on an anti-spending theme and with the idea that there has been no property tax relief.

For the state, the spending limit would actually be 2½ per cent a year, since it is calculated at the rate of 5 per cent increase per biennium. Thus, state government could not even keep up with inflation, much less make any progress.

And with a 5 per cent increase per year in spending, other governments could find themselves severely curtailed. Both petition movements are terrible but Tiemann has his work cut out for him in trying to convince voters of this.

Hogwash

Fairbury, Neb.

After thoroughly reading the editorial by William O. Dobler in the March 14 Star, I would have to say that his comment on hogwash could apply only to the thoughts presented in his article.

The current high interest rate appeared to be his target for debate but his meandering thoughts bring little focus on the issue.

He starts his argument by lamenting the fact that a caller said she couldn't buy a $19,000 house because she had only $2,000 to put down and couldn't afford the $196-a-month payments. This same caller stated that living through our current recession is just as bad as living through the last depression; they can still buy but can't acquire adequate housing.

First of all, Mr. Dobler and the caller must be assuming that anything less than a $19,000 house is inadequate. That's hogwash. The caller is really complaining because she can't afford to live beyond her means. Considering the information stated, it appears that a $13,000 or $14,000 home may be closer to her range. If the high interest rate is her only problem in buying a house, she should become informed about mortgage assumptions and contract buying which offer much lower rates in many cases.

The discussion also includes thoughts about unemployment. The facts are clear: Unemployment is rising and college graduates are having a harder time finding jobs. The discussion is hogwash. Instead of discussing the issues surrounding unemployment, he levels his attack on comments that he believes are said by others. Mr. Dobler writes that some applaud unemployment because it builds character in those unemployed; that some don't like welfare programs because the Bible says the poor will always be among us; and that we should therefore forget about the poor. Now, it's easy to call these comments hogwash, but quite ridiculous to credit these comments to those who feel that high interest rates and resulting unemployment are necessary. The Federal Reserve Board and the current administration can't be accused of such shallow thinking.

A good discussion of the issue must take into account some of the important facts. Namely, that the federal government was guilty of vast overspending during the Kennedy-Johnson administrations as evidenced by the huge addition to our national debt during this period of history; that some industries have over-extended themselves, resulting in necessary cutbacks now; that many people have attempted to increase their standard of living by increasing their debt level beyond their ability to repay; and that inflation has continued to magnify our economic problems.

Mr. Dobler's caller may equate recession with depression. That's hogwash. In light of the circumstances, cutbacks in government spending and high interest rates with resulting mild recession appear to be necessary to control inflation and avoid a possible depression. That's common sense.

All Used Up

Davey, Neb.

The government says they are fighting inflation. How? First they raised their salaries. The President received a large increase, also the cabinet, Congress, and also our governor and our Legislature — even our elected county officials, one receiving a $7,500 raise. (Any farmer would relish the raise without the salary).

Now the government admits the farmer was cut 6 per cent in feed grain payments and next year they are really going to reduce feed grain payments.

It looks to me as if the government is fighting inflation by using the farmer — and he is about used up.

ANOTHER DAVEY FARMER

LA VERNA HASSLER

Patchwork Prairie Country

Our small-town cafe has a special flavor of its own . . . a flavor that comes when the home-town folks gather there mixed with the rural patrons from the surrounding countryside.

Winter months are especially social when the farmers drop in for a cup of morning coffee before picking up the groceries to return home. Steeped in the conversation are plans for the coming growing season, feeding operations, the concern for the neighbor down the road who did not make it for the coffee and doughnut break or the up-coming election.

When the snows are deep, the rural mail carriers arrive back in town to report the condition of the roads. The man who drives the bread truck tells of the highway traffic to the next town. The local businessmen join the morning session off and on and that makes a steady stream of people passing in and out the door. I suppose this is public relations at its best — natural, unhurried amiable.

A special long table is taken by the matrons of the community. While they sip, they discuss a special church project, a new baby or the latest fashions. If one chair is not filled, they are anxious for their friend. Does she have the flu or did she go to the city to make arrangements for her daughter's wedding?

When we ate dinner, the atmosphere rubbed off on me. It was friend greeting friend, familiar faces and low voices sparked by the radio playing in the background. I caught the words to the song, "feeling cool . . . just feeling great."

There was the shuffle of chairs as people moved in around the tables, followed by the swish of water filling the glasses and the clinking of ice cubes as they were jostled about in the glasses. One by one the stools at the counter were filled. Blue denim jackets covered many shoulders. Some broad shoulders were bent with the years but it was obvious that through the years they had carried the weight of the world and its problems upon them.

☆ ☆ ☆

A young swain in a plaid jacket worked a cross-word puzzle as he waited for his dinner. Another smiled to himself as he read the comic strip in the paper that lay on the countertop.

A teen-age girl in a booth all to herself began tapping her feet and nodding her head in time to "Little Green Apples" that came forth from the radio.

Our cafe is a place where the waitress knows who wants hot tea with the meal, who uses cream and sugar in their coffee and who drinks it black. It's a place where home cooking is just what it says . . . hot biscuits with butter or pies with flaky crusts.

It's a place where food is served with pride like mashed potatoes with a hollow filled with rich gravy, a generous portion of meat, vegetable and salad topped off with dessert and coffee as many times as you want your cup filled without an extra dime a cup. Fancy cottage cheese and fruit salads are made upon request of the patrons but actually it is no place to go if you eat like a bird. Our cafe caters to those who enjoy good, substantial food and conversation interwoven with laughter; the smell of brewing coffee and good things that come from the oven.

It's a place where sale bills are left for those farmers who are leaving the farm. Too bad another farm is vacated but then the family will move into town so the same faces will still gather for the morning coffee break.

I cannot think of our citizens today without reverting back to those who first came to our community to build and stay. It living on the prairie. Those who could not take the hardships of living on the prairie. Thosewho buckled under the stress left. Only those of sturdy stock stayed. We are of those who chose to stay. We are those who enjoy small talk with our food, the familiar street scenes out the window, the familiar hustle and bustle inside and an extra cup of coffee. Where else can one get so much for just a few pennies over a dollar?

VIRGINIA PAYETTE

Senate 'At Work' Is From Dullsville

WASHINGTON — No matter how many Allan Drury novels you read about how the government REALLY works, there's always a special excitement when you see it in action with your own eyes.

It's not a bit like you might think it would be.

All those textbooks you plowed through in school might leave you feeling everything about Congress is an historic ritual — formal . . . ceremonial . . . even awe-inspiring.

It's not like that at all.

In fact, it's startlingly informal. Almost disorderly.

A Senate session I sat in on was so casual I had to keep telling myself it was really Congress doing its thing. History in the making. Things like that. I've seen PTA meetings conducted with more formality.

This day they really did make history. Passed a bill to give the vote to 18-year-olds. Now, that's big stuff. Made front pages all over the country. Maybe even the world.

But from the way they went about it, you'd have thought it was just a piece of routine business. And pretty dull business, at that.

In the first place, there was practically nobody on the floor. You wouldn't believe the empty seats. I even risked my neck leaning over the press gallery looking for more than six bodies. There were more marble busts in the hall than there were senators.

Somebody was making a speech (he was against the bill), but nobody paid any attention to him. Two senators talked to each other at their desks. One read a book. Two more wandered aimlessly around the floor.

The other 94 were out doing whatever senators do here. It was lunchtime, and some were grabbing sandwiches somewhere.

The senator who was sitting in for Vice-President Agnew (he never did show up) was signing his mail. Pages, neat in their dark blue suits, flitted around between the desks. Real Dullsville.

Then it came time for the vote. There wasn't a quorum (that was pretty obvious) so they rang the bell to summon the senators in from wherever they were.

And that's when the goosebumps started.

Doors flew open and in they came . . . all the names you read about: Percy, Goldwater, Muskie, Stennis, Byrd, Fulbright, Gore, Harris, Hart, Hatfield, McGovern, Proxmire, Ribicoff, Symington . . . some were still chewing.

Now, I thought. Now we'll have a real session. Not so. The senators didn't even sit down. They roamed around the floor, called out their votes when their turn came, and then—disappeared again.

It was all over in a few minutes. Only the reporters hurriedly phoning in their stories would make you realize the Senate had actually done something important.

And that, as far as the Senate is concerned, is how the 18-year-olds got a shot at the vote.

Down below somebody was making another speech. Nobody listened to it. Senators walked around . . . visited among themselves . . . shuffled papers on their desks. The president pro tem went back to his mail.

But, somehow, it's comforting to know they're all out there close by . . . ready to wander in now and then to run the country. All the clerk has to do is ring that bell — and the Republic is back in business.

New Ruling Opens Incoming Foreign Letters; One More Infringement On Right Of Privacy

WASHINGTON — The citizen's right of privacy is steadily chipped away with the reason that the virulent tide of mounting violence and crime justifies any action from wire-tapping to "no knock" police entry. The rise of violence and crime is undeniable. Yet, whether the cure is a cure and whether the remedy may not be more of a threat to free Americans than the disease is surely debatable.

The latest chip to be knocked off is comparatively small and yet it is revealing of the steady trend and toward a Big-Brother-is-watching-your-way-of-life. A new regulations issued by the Post Office Department, which went virtually unnoticed when it was published in the Federal Register, is a form of "no knock" applied to the mails.

Any postal clerk is given the authority to refer any piece of mail, whether a sealed first-class envelope or an unsealed envelope, arriving from overseas to the Treasury Department's Customs Bureau. The Treasury is drafting new rules to put envelopes in the same category with packages and parcels. Therefore, they must be opened and inspected.

Merchandise entering the country has, of course, always been subject to customs inspection. But those with authoritative background who have studied the new ruling believe that this never applied to first-class mail containing nothing but correspondence. The only law cited to justify this latest invasion of privacy is an 1866 tariff act allowing customs officers to "board and search vessels," to "stop, search and examine . . . any vehicle, beast or person, on which or whom he shall suspect there is merchandise which is subject to duty," and "to search any trunk or envelope . . . in which he may have a reasonable cause to suspect there is merchandise which was imported contrary to law."

The new regulation is a broad net capable of sweeping in the big fish that may be suspect and myriad little fish as well. The mail from Cosa Nostra agents operating abroad and helping to frame the syndicates that smuggle in heroin is a source of invaluable information except that these agents are not so naive as to write down their plans in a letter to be sent through the international mails. Letters from one's children traveling abroad or from relatives overseas fall into the same net and are just as likely to be ready by customs officials. While the regulation does not apply to domestic mail, the powers of the Post Office Department are such that a stroke of the pen — as in the instance of overseas mail — could bring all mail under Big Brother's eye.

A department spokesman gives as the reason for the new ruling the attempt to check what is described as a flood of pornography from abroad. Martin Wolf, with the Public Information Office working with the chief postal inspector, describes this flood in awesome terms.

If the flood is on this scale, it will take the work of a number of customs officers to halt it and whether even with a large force there can be any effective check is doubtful. Pornography wholesalers in this country flood the mails with teasers sent to indiscriminate mailing lists, according to the department. Curtailing the domestic operation of the merchants of smut has proved difficult to downright impossible. Virtually every newsstand today has literature that stops just short of being hard-core pornography and that a few years ago would have been on the banned list.

The Post Office Department has long been concerned over the commercial exploitation of pornography through the mails. President Eisenhower's postmaster general, Arthur Summerfield, put together a "Chamber of Horrors" of marginal and hard-core stuff, including several films. He gave members of Congress guided tours of his collection. There is little evidence that his campaign resulted in any slowdown in the pornography market.

Only a congressional committee can put the searching questions as to the motivation and the consequences of the new ruling. What about the Universal Postal Union and our postal treaties — do they authorize this invasion or prohibit it? Who initiated the changes? Was there a rush order from above? An alert committee should get some revealing answers.

Steen Hits Attacks On State Spending

Mel Steen, director of the State Game Commission, Wednesday criticized those who blame only state government for high taxes and promote a cutback in state spending as the solution to high taxes.

He said, "since coming to Nebraska I have been irked by those who, with their constant hue and cry about state spending, would handicap what the state could accomplish."

Steen, who will retire next month, spoke to the directors of the Salt Valley Watershed District. The watershed directors honored Steen for his service as director of the game unit.

"Everyone who wants to scream about taxes points to state government," Steen said, adding that his personal tax bill for the state amounts to only 3% of his total tax bill.

"How in the world can it be said that it is the state government that is bankrupting us," he charged.

Steen said that this story about state spending has long been spread in Nebraska, "and it is being spread by those seeking office."

He called this kind of talk "the big lie," recalling Hitler's words that people will believe a lie if you tell it often enough. "The people of Nebraska have been told the big lie," he said.

He said that Nebraska ranks 47th in the nation in terms of the per capita tax, adding that "my purpose here today is to tell you the truth."

"The state is not the one with its hands in your pocket," he contended. He added, however, that many of the things which need to be done must be done on the state level.

Commenting on the possibilities for future development of Nebraska's natural resources, Steen said: "You are going to see a lot more development."

"You have a big potential," he said. "I have been happy to play a part in making the future better for the people of this state. Now I can watch what you are going to do with the future."

But he challenged the people of Nebraska to accept the responsibility for bringing about development, saying "you need more faith in yourselves and in the state than you have exhibited in the past."

Admitting to be a schemer and dreamer, he said his biggest mistake was "the inability to look far enough ahead and think big enough" in realizing the full potential of the state's natural resources.

Two Resource Units Favored By Salt Valley

The Salt Valley Watershed District board of directors Wednesday adopted a resolution recommending that there be two natural resource districts created out of the present proposal for one district which would include the Salt Valley area and the Wahoo Creek area.

Last year, the Legislature passed LB1357 which reorganizes the estimated 500 districts now operating into "not less than 25 nor more than 50."

The two districts, according to the recommendation, would be called Lower Platte South and Salt Valley resource districts.

The resolution calls for the Wahoo Creek area to be in a district separate from the Salt Valley district. The North Oak and Rock Creek conservancy districts would be located in the Salt Valley district with boundary lines established on a section line rather than precinct basis.

Harold Sieck, chairman of the watershed's subcommittee on the reorganization of the resource districts, said the watershed group plans to meet with the Rock Creek group to encourage them to become part of the Salt Valley district.

In other action watershed directors adopted a resolution praising the late Mr. Nathan Gold, who was a member of the watershed district at the time of his death.

They also agreed to allow a Seward camping group to camp on watershed district property.

Change Of Venue For Two Iowans Is Turned Down

Holdrege (AP) — District Judge Norris Chadderdon has denied a motion for a change of venue in the case of two Iowa men charged in the shooting of a Holdrege policeman last Oct. 30.

Judge Chadderdon set April 13 for the trial of James D. Hainline, 32, of Des Moines and Robert A. Coleman, 27, of Norwalk. They are charged with shooting with intent to kill, wound or maim and on two counts of burglary each.

William Padley of Ogallala, attorney for the two, had contended that the size of the community, publicity the case has received and the fact a police officer was involved would prevent them from getting a fair trial in Holdrege.

Officer Roger Johnson was wounded in the abdomen when he attempted to apprehend the two men. He has recovered and returned to duty.

Harold Prosser's Services Friday

Kearney (AP) — Funeral services for Harold Prosser, 53, president of the Chimera Corp. of Kearney, will be at 2 p.m. Friday at the First Lutheran Church in Kearney. He died Tuesday in a Lincoln hospital.

Mr. Prosser's firm manufactures generators. He had been a resident of Kearney about four years.

Survivors include his wife, four sons and two daughters.

Substitution Planned

New Delhi (AP) —The man who has managed India's vast family planning program for three years, Sripati Chandrasekhar, has been omitted from the renomination list for parliament in the slate of Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's ruling Congress party. Party leaders decided his Madras seat should go to Chidambaram Subramaniam, former food minister.

'HITLER' . . . town dog.

Hitler, A Dog, Back In Court

North Plains, Ore. (AP) — Hitler, the town dog, is back in the courts again — still trying to keep his freedom to run around town without a leash.

Hitler's freedom was curtailed over the weekend when he was picked up by Washington County authorities and placed in a veterinary hopsital.

Thomas Kerrigan, a Portland criminal lawyer, learned that the county had custody of Hitler Tuesday. He went to circuit court, where he won a writ of habeas corpus which requires county officials to show why and where the dog is being held. A hearing is scheduled Thursday.

Branch Libraries May Open Early Next Year

A possibility that the city's two new branch libraries will open in early 1971 was related to the Lincoln City Library Board Wednesday.

Library Director Charles Dalrymple told board members that he hopes the northeast and southeast branch libraries will be in operation in late winter or early spring.

Dalrymple said he plans to include funds to staff the two libraries in his budget for the upcoming fiscal year, which starts Sept. 1.

At the board meeting, the board gave the architect for the two buildings permission to go ahead with detailed plans for the libraries.

Board members took that action after approving the preliminary plans and being assured that money would be available to finance construction.

Al Hammersky of the architectual firm of Clark & Enersen, Olsson, Burroughs and Thomsen, said that the plans for the Charles H. Gere Branch Library at 56th and Normal could also be used for the Victor Anderson Library near Touzalin and Fremont, since the sites are similar.

Dalrymple also told board members that Mr. and Mrs. Bennett S. Martin plan to contribute a cash memorial in honor of the late Nathan Gold, a local civic leader, which would be used for replanting an area beneath the stairwell in the Bennett Martin Library.

Action On Hunger Delayed When Disputes Arise

By KEN NEUNDORF
Star Staff Writer

Action on what to do following Tuesday's hunger conference was delayed for a week when disputes racked a Wednesday meeting of Project 93, the volunteer group that sponsored the governor's conference on hunger.

Basically the dispute pitted those who favor immediate action to feed the hungry against those who say they would feed the hungry if they knew how.

"I thought the conference was called to talk about how to feed the hungry," said Dr. George Rejda, professor of economics at the University of Nebraska. "We've talked, but we haven't fed anyone."

Follow-Up Urged

Rejda, noting that 22,000 Nebraskans had been discovered in need of food by a survey last week, advocated following up on an idea presented by a poor people's caucus at the conference that a federal grant be applied for.

The food could be obtained from surplus warehouses, Rejda said.

But Harold McGrew, in charge of the food stamp program for the State Department of Welfare, disagreed.

"What are you going to do?" McGrew asked. "Are you going to take food and give it to the hungry people and take the school lunch program away from 174,000 school children?"

At County Level

McGrew, along with State Agricultural Director Elmer Schlaphoff, supports action at the county level. Schlaphoff predicted results would come as a result of the conference.

"They'll never be fed," Rejda answered.

Also disputed was whom the conference had been aimed at — the poor or the people who want to help.

Sandy Heath, a community organizer for the Lincoln Action Program, said the conference had been a disappointment to the poor.

Not Working

"They know about these programs," she said. "It's not because of their lack of knowledge that they're hungry, it's because the programs are not working."

"From the questions I was asked, none of the people knew anything about the programs or they wouldn't have asked," McGrew replied.

"The questions I picked up were from women in church groups," said Mrs. Lucy Nevels, and not from the poor participants in the conference.
conference.

Commission Urged

In other matters, the group passed along a recommendation voted on at the end of the Tuesday conference that calls on Gov. Norbert Tiemann to establish a state commission on food and nutrition.

The recommendation also urges the governor to act on a nine-point proposal presented by a poor people's caucus at the conference.

U.S. Steel Charged With Polluting Lake Michigan

Chicago (AP) — A federal grand jury indicted U.S. Steel Corp. and its Chicago plant superintendant Wednesday on charges of polluting Lake Michigan.

The company, charged with five separate acts of pollution, declined to comment immediately.

In a separate count, Charles Kay, superintendent of Big Steel's South Works facility in Chicago, was accused of aiding and abetting in the deposit of solid wastes into the lake.

The indictment alleged that the plant discharged iron oxide and other blast furnace waste solids from the steel manufacturing process into the lake.

It said the offenses, barred under a federal law regulating navigable waters, occurred Sept. 26-30, 1969.

If convicted, U.S. Steel could receive a maximum fine of $2,500 for each of the five counts. Kay could receive the same fine as well as up to one year in prison.

The action marked the second time this year that U.S. Steel has been charged with polluting navigable waters in the Lake Michigan area.

On Feb. 18, the Justice Department filed a criminal information in Hammond, Ind., federal court against U.S. Steel and nine other companies.

Bill Allowing Spending Limit Vote In Any Governmental Unit Boosted

COPACT's number one project during the next Legislature will be the introduction of a bill allowing a vote in any governmental subdivision on "holding the line at the present level of spending," S. H. (Zeke) Brauer Jr. said Wednesday.

COPACT, the Committee of Parents and Concerned Taxpayers organized in Adams County by John Halloran of Hastings, is in the process of establishing a statewide organization seeking to cut government spending.

Brauer, who is executive at one of a series of meetings here Wednesday afternoon being held across the state. Some 75 persons, primarily from Lancaster County, attended the 2½-hour session.

Braue, who is executive secretary of the Nebraska School Improvement Association and chief spokesman at the COPACT meetings, predicted that the 5% limit on spending expected to be enacted in Kansas soon will motivate similar action in many other states.

COPACT is sponsoring a petition drive to get a constitutional amendment prohibiting increases in expenditures of more than 5% by the Legislature or any governmental subdivision each budget period.

Persons attending the meetings are given instructions and urged to circulate petitions on the spending limitation amendment and also on an amendment that would automatically require an intangible tax if unified school districts are required.

A man interrupted Brauer's presentation to say that he thought an intangible tax should be enacted regardless of school district reorganization requirements. Brauer said he would "not disagree" with the proponent, but another man in the audience did, contending that an intangible tax would "chase more money out of this state than anything else."

The tax burden has "nearly reached confiscatory proportions in many counties," Brauer told the tax protest meeting.

When the state property tax was lifted local governmental subdivisions immediately moved in with increased taxation to "consume any relief" that might have been felt, he declared.

"For too long people have only been looking at the mill levy. That has nothing to do with the amount of money being spent," Brauer said.

"When people are driven too far with taxes, the taxpayers won't even give government the necessary things," the speaker claimed.

"This is what we're trying to avoid," he added.

According to Brauer, it's not taxpayers who are demanding more and more services from government. "It's the bureaucrats and people in public positions who are telling us what we need."

Rap Brown Trial Moved; Judge Quits

Bel Air, Md. (AP) — H. Rap Brown's trial on charges of arson and inciting to riot was transferred to its third successive site Wednesday by Judge Harry E. Dyer Jr., who disqualified himself a day after the prosecutor asked him to step aside.

No new date was set for resumption of the trial, which has been recessed twice.

Brown is the former head of the black militant Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee.

Dyer is a judge of the circuit court in Harford County, northeast of Baltimore. He transferred the trial to Ellicott City in Howard County, 10 miles west of Baltimore.

Funds 'Needed' For Papillion Basin Dam Sites

Omaha (AP) — Merlon England of Papillion, a member of the Papillion Watershed Advisory Board, said that the timely acquisition of dam sites for the Papillion basin flood control and recreation project is "going to be real critical."

England said about $12 million in federal funds is needed "almost immediately."

President Nixon's budget for the coming fiscal year contains $200,000 for advance engineering and design on the $26.8 million project.

Man, Once Sentenced To Death, Granted Hearing Which Could Lead To Freedom

A former Omaha bartender once sentenced to death in the electric chair for murder will be given a hearing March 25 which could ultimately result in his release from prison.

The board of pardons, at the hearing, will determine whether the life sentence of 47-year-old Stanley J. Nowicki of Omaha should be commuted to a specific number of years.

Such a commutation would permit the board of paroles — a separate board — to release Nowicki on parole should it wish.

Nowicki has been serving a life term in the penal complex for the knife slaying of his divorced wife in January of 1956.

Originally he was sentenced to death in the electric chair on an Omaha jury's recommendation, but the State Board of Pardons and Paroles commuted his term to life just a week before his scheduled execution in July of 1957.

A procedural error had prevented the State Supreme Court from reviewing the case and this prompted the commutation. The law has since been changed to make supreme court reviews automatic in such cases.

The state board of paroles in January recommended that the pardon board commute Nowicki's term to a specified number of years.

The pardon board, which will consider the case March 25, includes the governor, attorney general and secretary of state.

Robert G. Snow Named Chamber Publicity Chief

The appointment of Robert G. Snow of 3430 Washington to the staff of the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce was announced Wednesday by John R. Fraker, vice president of the Chamber.

Snow, 27, will manage the public relations department of the Lincoln Chamber, serving the publicity, public relations, sports and recreation committees. He replaces Robert O. Stuewig who was recently named manager of the Lincoln Center Division.

Meeting Scheduled

Washington (UPI) — Representatives of the Defense Department and Lockheed Aircraft Corp. will meet in Los Angeles to discuss the financial crisis which prompted the firm to seek $641 million in additional government payments.

Why did I have to pay six cents for a stamp to return a questionnaire to my Congressman? I thought this was under the free mail privilege given him. —J.F., Lincoln

ACTION LINE: Representative Robert Denney prints the computer-punched questionnaire cards at his own expense, and return postage is not covered by his mail privilege.

Don't all eating places have to be enclosed? If this is true, our group's plans for the summer may have to change. —E.S., Wilber

ACTION LINE: The Dairies and Foods Division of the Agriculture Dept. is forwarding to you some literature to explain what is required by law regarding out-of-door eating establishments. Note pages 26-29 regarding such places.

Section J provides that walls and ceilings shall "minimize the entrance of flies and dust" and "protect the interior of the establishment from the elements." To determine what will be adequate for those points, contact the ag department and read them your detailed plans. Ask for their suggestions if you do not totally meet their standards.

For temporary establishments, exceptions can sometimes be made without endangering the public.

Did the government official in Iowa ever apologize for calling Nebraska a dumb state? —Wondering, Lincoln

ACTION LINE: Iowa State Rep. June Franklin says she will take back her statement, but will insist Nebraska is "conservative" and "backward".

She was irked over Iowa's attempt to pass a self defense bill that would allow a person to use whatever force deemed necessary if he believes he is faced with a threat of violent crime. Since Nebraska has such a law, Mrs. Franklin had some bad words to say about the Cornhusker State.

I bought a Viscount transistor phonograph which didn't work properly so I returned it to the company Sept. 13, 1969. To date I have not received it back. —Garry Baker, Seward

LB305 made it mandatory to obtain a new driver's license when moving to another county and the state senators claim they did not know this. Can the law be repealed now? —Several People, Lincoln

On the television program Bewitched, are Samantha and Sarina played by the same actress? —B. Homolka, Dorchester

ACTION LINE: Yes. Elizabeth Montgomery plays both roles. Trick photography creates the illusion they are talking to each other.

Where can I obtain a central listing of various civil liberties organizations and human rights group in the state? —R.B.G., Lincoln

ACTION LINE: Write a request to: Nebraska Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, Post Office Box 94862, Statehouse, Lincoln, Neb.

How can people live and work in Lincoln while their car is licensed and registered in another county? This means they avoid paying wheel tax and the mill levy for Lancaster County. —Irate, Lincoln

ACTION LINE: You are the one to do something about it.

If an auto is used and stored in the place of residence of the owner, the auto must be registered in that place.

Contact the city attorney's office or the Lincoln Police Dept. with details. You will not have to give your name if you do not choose to.

How many Americans have died in Laos? Do we have a war there like in Vietnam? —J.G., Lincoln

ACTION LINE: The White House says in the past eight years, 27 Americans have been killed in Laos by enemy ground forces. The latest casualty was in February 1969.

President Nixon says no American stationed in Laos has ever been killed in "ground combat operations." He acknowledges that the U.S. has flown combat-support missions for Laotian forces, but says the U.S. has no plans for introducing ground combat forces into Laos.

There are two plays on Broadway now that have all-nude casts. What are the plays? —Interested, Lincoln

ACTION LINE: There is now on Broadway a play which has nine nude performers. The play is titled: "Grin and Bare It." An off-Broadway play — "Oh, Calcutta" — has ten nude people in it.

Very revealing plays, some people say.

Barnacles Clog Salt Water Pipes

Newport, Ore. (UPI) — You'll probably never find your water lines jammed shut by barnacles. But that's one of the problems the Marine Science Center here has to contend with.

To fight it, the center uses two separate pipelines to keep water moving freely from nearby Yaquina Bay through the center. Each line is used for a maximum of three weeks, then shut down while the other line is used. By running fresh water through the unused line the barnacle growth is inhibited.

Pathet Lao 'Government' Wobbly Without Hanoi

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press Writer

A vest pocket parody of a Communist-type government organization operates, after a fashion, in two northeast provinces of Laos held since 1954 by the Pathet Lao and their North Vietnamese allies.

The organization probably wouldn't operate at all if it were not for the heavy presence of North Vietnamese. Presumably, backed by North Vietnamese military muscle, it is designed as a system which can one day be imposed upon all of Laos.

Men who have spent much time in remote Laos outposts talking to refugees give this picture of how the organization works:

Under the close supervision of agents from Hanoi, the "government" is operated in Phongsaly and Sam Neua provinces by the NLHX — the Neo Lao Hak Xat or Lao Patriotic Front, similar in structure to the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front in South Vietnam.

Military Arm

The Pathet Lao is the military arm of the NLHX. Its function is guerrilla war but neither in the style nor on the scaled of the Viet Cong. The Pathet Lao lack the numbers, the fighting abilities and the political drive. Without the North Vietnamese presence, the Pathet Lao likely would have collapsed long ago.

The other arm is administrative, nominally under an organization called the Khana Puk Luk or KPL, also called "the awakening." The KPL in turn is operated by the Lao People's Party, as the Lao Communists call themselves. The party consists of little more than its own central committee.

Latest information on the KPL was that it was run by Kaysone Phomivan, 46. Although Lao-born and half-Lao by nationality, Kaysone actually is a long-time member of the Vietnamese Communist Party.

Deuane Powerless

A place in the administrative structure is supposed to be reserved for "patriotic neutralists," so labeled because they are "neutralist" against Vientiane's government. They are headed by Col. Deuane Souvannarath, who broke with Vientiane years ago and went north. Actually, Deuane has no authority. His separate military force has been whittled away.

In the two northeast provinces and wherever it can pin down authority, the administration levies taxes, conscripts soldiers, impresses labor to support the troops and works to stamp out centuries-old traditions. Its announced aim is to persuade the people to reject "the old way" and adopt "the new way."

Supported by North Vietnamese guns, the organization makes military service mandatory for all males of 15 or over. The more able bodied go to guerrilla forces, others to home guard, supply services and other duties. There is no pay.

Labor Impressed

The organization impresses coolie labor to meet severe manpower shortages. Any able bodied man or woman is subject to at least one long trip and several short ones annually, toting supplies for the troops. Long trips last about 30 days.

The more strongly the North Vietnamese hold an area, the more the people are taxed. A family can keep only a set amount of its rice. The rest is earmarked for delivery to "the state" as "voluntary contributions" at fixed prices. Villagers who resist by hiding what they have risk visits from North Vietnamese agents.

Environment Council Has No Home, Lots Of Work Ahead

By STAN BENJAMIN

Washington (AP) — It hasn't hired a staff yet, one of its three members is still in California, and its temporary offices aren't ready, but President Nixon's new Environment Quality Council is already up to its neck in work.

Its task is to develop policies to alter the quality of life in the United States; at the same time, it must help fight today's environmental problems.

"We cannot be simply an ivory tower, academically oriented outfit dealing with philosophical concepts," says Chairman Russell E. Train. "It just won't wash. We're going to have to do both somehow. It's going to be a neat trick."

Formidable Task

In its advisory role the council must try to understand the environment, which is like trying to understand all nature; it must monitor the environment, spot trends and analyze them, review federal programs and activities, coordinate them, recommend priorities, set guidelines, recommend organizational changes, and propose new programs where needed.

Meanwhile, the council is collecting a growing list of here-and-now environmental problems that need solving.

It must, in short order, come up with plans to encourage the removal of junked autos from the nation's landscape.

It has to help develop incentives and regulations to keep other products from becoming environmental litter.

Nixon has assigned the council to direct research aimed at developing, within 5 years, a pollution-free automobile.

The council also must push research on prevention of pollution from farming operations.

The White House even asked the council to review a controversial Cross-Florida Barge Canal, a $160-million project to create a more direct link between the Atlantic and Gulf coasts.

Pollution Division

In addition, says Train, the council is setting up an environmental pollution division — "that's where the action is" — and plans to get involved in land use planning, noise problems, population policy, oil tanker spills and the supersonic transport plane.

Its most immediate problem, however, is to get organized, and find an office.

Train says the council can afford a total staff of about 25 this fiscal year.

Some of the key figures have been chosen but are still tied to jobs elsewhere.

"There's been a fantastic outpouring of job applicants," says Train. "Up around 1,000, from very extraordinary backgrounds."

There's also been an outpouring of requests for personal appearances by Train and his council colleagues. Robert Cahn and Gordon C. F. MacDonald.

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY:

Lady's Relatives Blatantly Ask For Attic Treasures

By ROBERT PETERSON

Q.—"You wrote recently about people storing things in their attics and said there were two types of people—accumulators and giver-awayers. Well, I'm a grandma, 71, and would like to add there's a third kind—the grabbers. I've got my attic filled with family possessions very precious to me, and for some reason am plagued with a long list of relatives who pop in for visits, weasel their way into my attic and blatantly ask for things. I plan to distribute these things one day but what's the rush?"

A.—You're not going to live forever and you can't take them with you. So why not start the distribution now while you've got the strength and your mind is clear? The very fact that these possessions are precious to you should indicate the importance of getting them into the hands of younger friends and relatives who will fully appreciate them. Many people wait too long before distributing their treasures or making out detailed wills, with the result that attic possessions are unceremoniously sold on the auction block to settle estates.

Q.—"My wife, 62, used to have good sense. But several months ago a friend took her to a gypsy who predicted our family would have both joy and sorrow within a week. The next day our daughter gave birth to a son, and the following day our dog was killed by a car, so my wife became convinced this woman is a genius and goes to her once a week at five bucks a visit. I think it's all fakery and bunk and told my wife to stop going. When my wife told this to the gypsy she looked in her crystal ball and said a terrible accident will befall me soon. Now she's got me worried. Do you put any stock in this?"

A.—No, if gypsies had any knack for predictions they could make stockmarket guesses which would make them so rich they'd never have to hawk visions at five bucks a visit.

Q.—"You don't sympathize, do you, with that crazy physician who's had a lot of publicity and wants to legalize polygamy among folks past 60? That was the most shocking proposal I ever heard of. My husband and I are 59 and if I thought he might bring home an extra wife I'd shoot him on his next birthday."

A.—Don't get trigger happy. It was just a suggestion by Dr. Victor Kassel who notes there are four times more women than men past 60. He says if we believe in equal opportunities, the only way we can give older women equal chance at a husband is to let men take multiple wives. He also ruminated about such possible advantages as greater companionship, better nursing care and higher standards of living stemming from pooled pensions.

This Week's Health Tip

Here is a health tip from the Nebraska State Medical Association:

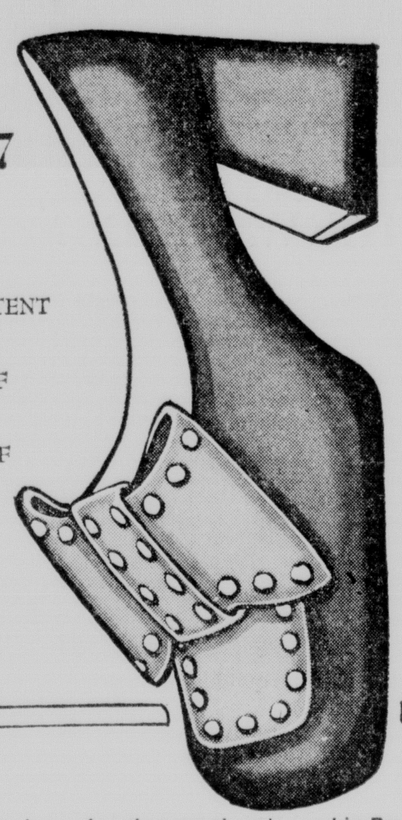

Each spring many youngsters are injured in bicycle accidents. Most of these injuries could be avoided as they often happen to riders who are violating traffic rules.

A bicycle is only as safe as the rider, so remember to keep your bicycle under control. Be sure the bike is in good condition, especially the brakes. Do not ride after dark unless absolutely necessary, and be sure your bicycle has the proper lights and reflectors.

When traffic is heavy at a busy corner, walk your bike across. Important to bicycle safety is to know and understand traffic rules.

Knowlton Will Head West Point

Washington (UPI) — The Army Wednesday named Maj. Gen. William A. Knowlton to succeed Maj. Gen. Samuel W. Koster as superintendent of the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, N.Y.

Knowlton, 49, and a 1943 graduate of West Point, will assume his new duties Thursday, Army Secretary Stanley R. Resor announced.

Koster, who was commander of the Americal Division in Vietnam at the time of the My Lai incident, was among 14 officers charged Tuesday by the Army with failing to report and investigate the massacre. He has been transferred to Ft. Meade, Md., for further hearings to determine whether he will be court-martialed.

Knowlton, who will be the 49th superintendent of West Point, has a son who is a first-classman at the academy. Another son is an infantry drill sergeant and veteran of Vietnam.

Knowlton was born in Weston, Mass., and Pentagon records list his hometown as West Springfield, N.H.

Presently serving as secretary of the Army general staff at the Pentagon, Knowlton was a platoon leader with the 3rd Army during its dash across France near the end of World War II and was a reconnaissance troop commander during the Battle of the Bulge.

His decorations include the Distinguished Service Medal, the Silver Star with two Oak Leaf Clusters, the Legion of Merit, the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Bronze Star with combat "V" attached.

He got the Silver Star for leading a reconnaissance mission behind German lines to make contact with Soviet forces north of Berlin in World War II.

Knowlton served in Vietnam from August 1966 until July 1968 when he returned to the United States to assume his present post.

Laotians Start Leaving Army Headquarters

Vientiane, Laos (AP) — A limited withdrawal of civilians and soldiers from army headquarters at Long Cheng began Wednesday after the fall of the nearby U.S.-operated supply base at Sam Thong to 2,000 North Vietnamese Troops.

Informed sources saw the advance on Sam Thong as the first significant North Vietnamese push south of the Plain of Jars since the Geneva agreement in 1962 set up Laos as a neutral state.

Gen. Vang Pao, commander of the Meo tribesman army, has his base at Long Cheng and has about 7,000 soldiers standing in the way of an advance. But these forces apparently put up little resistance at Sam Thong.

There was no immediate report on whether U.S. Central Intelligence Agency personnel, who support Vang's army at Long Cheng, had left.

Swallows Back To Capistrano

San Juan Capistrano, Calif. (AP) — This sleepy Southern California town of 3,500 gets its annual day in the limelight Thursday. The swallows come back.

The swallows and tourists lured by story and song about their return have been arriving at the San Juan Capistrano Mission March 19, St. Joseph's Day, for at least 200 years and probably long before, according to local lore.

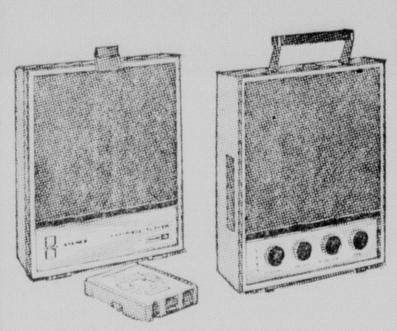

The birds fly 6,000 miles from South America, spend the summer nesting in and around the 194-year-old mission, then fly south in October.

Oldtimers Olympics Is Underway

The ever-increasing roster of those registering for the Oldtimers' Olympics which started March 16, at Taos Ski Valley is beginning to read like a roster of ski champions in the 1940s and 1950s.

The Oldtimers are gathering for a week of skiing and fun and games at Taos Ski Valley and at Sandia Peak Ski Area near Albuquerque. Special races and social events alternate between the two areas, with plenty of time for side trips to Indian pueblos and other southwestern scenic attractions.

Among those registering for the Oldtimers' Olympics, which will conclude March 21 with the running of the Rocky Mountain Divisional Veterans Slalom Championships are:

—Stan Czarniak of Stamford, N.Y., Polish representative in the 1939 Federation Internationale Du Ski championships at Zakopane.

—Rodney Aller of Lakeville, Conn., who won all four gold medals — downhill, slalom, giant slalom, and combination — in the U.S. Veterans Championships in 1968.

—Wolfie Lert of Los Angeles, long-time racer and coach, and friend of and American representative for Willie Bogner, owner of Europe's principal manufacturer of ski clothes and accessories.

—Ken Bartholomew of Minneapolis, member of the 1948 U.S. Olympic team.

—Gordon Wren of Steamboat Springs, Colo., one of the greatest international four-way competitors in ski history and star of the 1948 U.S. Olympic teams.

—Tony Woerndle of Red River, N.M., star instructor of Aspen before moving to Red River where he owns the Alpine Lodge.

—Dr. E. B. Kraus of Coral Gables, Fla., a former Australian champion who competed in the world universities' ski championships in 1938 and now is on the faculty of the Institute of Atmospheric Sciences at the University of Miami.

—Sepp Uhl, assistant director of the Ski School at Aspen. Two husband and wife teams have also registered, Mr. and Mrs. Bonnivier of Pittsfield, Mass., and Mr. and Mrs. Max Dercum of Arapahoe Basin, Colo.

Others participating so far are Irving Goodman of Los Angeles; L. Gibbons of Phoenix; Larry Jump of Arapahoe Basin; Ernie Blake of Taos Ski Valley; and Robert J. Nordhaus of Sandia Peak Ski Area.

The Oldtimers' Olympics is a brainchild of Blake, a Swiss-American who served as chief interpreter at the 1968 Interski at Aspen and official starter at the Winter Olympics in Squaw Valley several years ago, and Nordhaus, a former member of the U.S. 10th Mountain Ski Division which operated effectively in the Alpine area of northern Italy during World War II.

In addition to the Rocky Mountain Divisional Veterans' Slalom, Saturday March 21, the principal highlight of the week's events will be the Taos Cup Giant Slalom on Friday March 20. Both are races fully sanctioned by the Rocky Mountain Division of the U.S. Ski Association.

A Change-Of-Decor Idea

You look around the room and you say to yourself—"Something has to be done with that corner — "But you don't know exactly what to do, and this is the month you are worrying about Uncle Sam, and the checking account strictly is off-limits.

Well, you can do something simple, and what you do can not only tie your room together, but can be an eye-catcher as well.

All you do is use one trimming on the slip covers, curtains, and even on those bugaboos—Venetian blind tapes. That one trimming is a simple cotton loop fringe. Try it and see for yourself how attractive it is.

MISS SUSAN HENSON

This morning Mr. and Mrs. Paul H. Henson of Mission Hills, Kan., formerly of Lincoln, make announcement of the engagement of their daughter, Susan Irene, to Kent Howard Flury, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Flury of Overland Park, Kan.

The wedding is planned for Saturday, Aug. 8, and the ceremony will be solemnized at the Village Presbyterian Church in Prairie Village, Kan.

Miss Henson attended Southern Methodist University at Dallas, Tex., where she is a member of Pi Beta Phi sorority, and later attended the University of Grenoble, Grenoble France. She now is a student at the University of Kansas at Lawrence.

Mr. Flury also is attending the University of Kansas and is a member of Sigma Nu fraternity.

The bride-elect is the granddaughter of Mr and Mrs. George C. Roeder, and of Mrs. Mae Henson, all of Lincoln.

Brides Book

A University of Nebraska coed Miss Linda Davidson, is naming her wedding attendants this morning. She will become Mrs. John Reid on the evening of March 21, at Christ United Methodist Church.

Miss Davidson has chosen her sister, Miss Debi Reid of Bossier City, La., as her maid of honor, with her fiance's sister, Miss Vicki Reid of Omaha, as bridesmaid.

Miss Peggy Reid, another sister of the bridegroom, will be candlelighter for the wedding.

Mr. Reid will have Roger Miller of Hartington as his best man. Larry Whitmore will be the groomsman.

On St. Patrick's Day, March 17, relatives honored the bride-to-be with a miscellaneous shower. Miss Davidson's aunts, Mrs. Glen Davidson and Mrs. Loren Davidson of Syracuse were hostesses for the courtesy.

Another University of Nebraska coed, Miss Georgia Campbell, whose marriage to Randall Snider is planned for June 6, also is announcing the members of the bridal party this morning.

Miss Campbell has chosen her sister, Mrs. Ronald Richards of Kearney, as matron of honor for the evening wedding at Frieden's Lutheran Church. Miss Vicki Rothe will be maid of honor, and Miss Marti Thorley has been named as bridesmaid.

The bride's niece, Miss Wendy Richards of Kearney, and Miss Julie Mittan, will be flowergirls. Kenny Richards, nephew of the bride, will serve as ring-bearer.

Mr. Snider's best man will be Don Mittan, with Steve Franks and Marty Leonard as groomsmen. His brother, George Snider, Jr., and Ronald Richards of Kearney, will serve as ushers for the wedding.

Miss Campbell is majoring in speech therapy at NU, and her fiance attended Nebraska Vocational Technical School at Milford. He is just completing six months active duty with the Army National Guard at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo.

Considering what's been happening weather-wise during the past 24 hours, poet William Cullen Bryant had the right idea when he penned the words:

"The stormy March has come at last,
With wind, and cloud and changing skies;
I hear the rushing of the blast
That through the snowy valley flies."

He must have been familiar with a typical Nebraska March!

Hopefully however, Old Man Winter will soon give up and go elsewhere for seven or eight months, thus allowing Lincoln residents to find out once again just what spring is all about!

Speaking of spring — what could be more typical of that particular season than a bride, like, for example, Miss Barbara Jean Smith, whose marriage to Stuart Mills will be an event of Saturday, May 23. The round of prenuptial parties honoring Miss Smith has already begun, and on Saturday afternoon, March 14, Huntington Hills resident Mrs. Dave Mills entertained in courtesy to the soon-to-be bride. Attending the festivities, which took place at the home of Mrs. Mills, were family members, and during the afternoon they presented Miss Smith with a miscellaneous shower.

The bride-elect, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Smith of Bridgeport, is a student at Nebraska Wesleyan University where she is affiliated with Phi Mu sorority. Mr. Mills is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Mills of North Tonawanda, N.Y.; and he is also a student at Wesleyan, where he is a member of Phi Kappa Tau fraternity.

Incidentally we also should mention the fact that Mr. and Mrs. Dave Mills and sons will be leaving Lincoln in the very near future for their new home in St. Paul, Minn.

A slightly belated happy birthday wish is in order for Dale Sackett, son of Fiene Heights residents Mr. and Mrs. George Sackett, who became a seven-year-old on Wednesday, March 11.

Two days of celebrating were on last weekend's agenda for Dale who was honored at two birthday parties. The first — a "youngsters only" affair — took place on Saturday afternoon at the Sackett home; and included on the guest list were a number of Dale's friends. On hand to enjoy the cake, ice cream and games were David Grandstaff, Cindy Jensen, Christy Jensen, Eric Johnson, Tommy Lococo, Kathy Lococo, Angela Miller, Janet Myers, Jeff Schriner, Gail TeSelle and David Watkins.

On Sunday, a group of family members gathered at the Sackett home for a birthday dinner honoring Dale. In attendance were Dale's grandmothers, Mrs. Florence Pierce, and Mrs. Mary Sackett of Agnew; his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Tom McCarthy and daughter, Roxanne; and, of course, his sister, Diane.

Traveling to Kansas last weekend to attend a 50th wedding anniversarqy celebration were Park Manor residents, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Newman and children, Angela, Shelley and Doug. The celebrants were Mrs. Newman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hayes of McPherson, who were honored at an open house which took place on Sunday at their home.

Joining in the festivities were many friends and family members including Mrs. Newman's brothers and sisters-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Hayes and family of McPherson, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hayes and daughters of Salina, Kan., and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Hayes and son of St. Joseph, Mo.; and her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lambrecht of Sterling, Kan.

Training Sessions

Training sessions for the Home Extension Club lesson for the month of April will be held next week at the Lincoln Electric System Demonstration Kitchen, 1401 O St. The lesson, entitled "The Art of Easy Blending," will include pointers on the purchase and care of blenders, as well as recipes for food to be prepared in a blender.

The instructor for the sessions will be Miss Ethel Diedrichsen, Food and Nutrition Extension Specialist from the University of Nebraska; and classes will be offered at the following times: Tuesday evening, March 24, at 7 o'clock; Wednesday morning, March 25, at 9:30 o'clock; Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock; and Thursday afternoon, March 26, at 1:30 o'clock.

PTA Elects New Officers

At the Tuesday evening, March 17, meeting of the Randolph PTA, Mrs. Darold Smith introduced the organization's new officers for the 1970-71 term. Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Casteel are the new president couple, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Harms will serve in the office of first vice-president, and Mr. and Mrs. John DuPont will be the second vice-president couple.

Mrs. William Kosmos is recording secretary, Mrs. Rudy Glanz willl serve as corresponding secretary, the treasurer is Mrs. Rodney Poe, and Mrs. G. L. Barrett will serve as council delegate.

Projects Fair

The Lakeview Elementary School PTA will sponsor an open house and "Projects Fair" to be held Thursday evening at the school. The festivities will begin at 7:30 o'clock, and the classrooms will be open so that parents may view the students' semester projects.

Those Biscuits Can Be Glamorous

Hot cross buns are traditionally served at Easter. However, explanations for the symbolic cross-shaped topping on each bun can be traced back to pre-Christian times. The four quarters formed by bisecting lines are thought to have represented the four seasons.

Delicate petaled pastry cups add a graceful touch to an Easter or springtime brunch. Prepare pastry dough and roll out ⅛-inch thick. Cut out pastry rounds with 3-inch biscuit cutter. Place one round on bottom of muffin cup. Around side of muffin cup, overlap five pastry rounds, standing each on edge. Firmly seal side rounds to bottom. Prick with fork. Bake in preheated 450 degree oven 10 to 12 minutes, or until brown. Cool and fill with prepared fruit pie filling.

Angel food cakes topped with sherbet or ice cream are light and fancy finales to spring suppers. To avoid "pulling" the cake down when you cut it, slice with a pronged divider, or two forks back to back.

Tender, melt-away biscuits have many guises to raise a meal from ordinary to interesting. Simple filled biscuits result from two thin squares of dough patted together, with a filling between. Biscuits, either homemade or refrigerator, can form a poufy crown if placed atop a casserole before baking.

Biscuits will take on a warm, brown finish if the tops are brushed with milk or butter before baking.

Take a tip from famous restaurants and serve miniature loaves of homebaked white bread, warm from the oven, at your next formal dinner. Bring the bread to the table unsliced on a board and have a dish of whipped butter ready nearby.

It's A Cookie Special

Golden brown under a swirl of chocolate or vanilla frosting and topped with a pecan half, Sour Cream-Banana Cookies are "kid-sized."

Sour cream, used in place of milk and shortening, provides the cake-like texture. Bananas and nuts add their own special flavors.

And if you have a younger generation eager to cook let it gain experience. If the children are very young mix the batter for them. Then, let them use teaspoons to drop the cookies onto baking sheets. Bake and cool. Creamy frosting from a can and crunchy pecan halves are finishing touches. Let us warn you, however; one batch won't last long.

SOUR CREAM-BANANA COOKIES

About 6 dozen cookies

- 2 cups enriched flour*
- 1 tablespoon baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon soda
- 1 egg, beaten
- 1 cup light brown sugar, firmly packed
- 1 cup bananas, mashed
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- ½ cup sour cream
- 1 cup chopped pecans
- Prepared chocolate or vanilla frosting
- Pecan Halves

Stir together flour, baking powder, salt and soda. In large mixing bowl, combine egg and brown sugar. Blend in bananas and vanilla. Alternately add flour mixture and sour cream. Stir in pecans. Drop by rounded treaspoonfuls onto greased baking sheets. Bake in preheated 350 degree oven 12 to 15 minutes, or until golden brown. Remove from baking sheets immediately. Cool on wire racks. Frost and decorate with pecan halves.

*Spoon flour into dry measuring cup; level. Do not scoop.

NOTE: If self-rising flour is used, omit baking powder and salt.

Cuisine From The French

People throughout the Western Hemisphere eat chicken, beef, veal, fish. Why, he asks, is it that when important guests are expected they start thinking of truffles, pate and pheasant? He would much rather be served one of the staples, properly prepared, than something exotic which takes hours of preparation and decimates the budget.

Chicken, for example, can be made in so many different ways, some of them really exciting. Andre' Soltner's favorite is Poulet Riesling, served with almost any vegetable, or, egg noodles.

POULET RIESLING

One 4 pound chicken (cut into serving pieces (⅛ths)
- salt
- pepper
- 3 tablespoons butter
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1 medium onion, chopped
- 1 bay leaf
- 2 cloves
- 2 cups Riesling
- 1 cup water
- 1 tablespoon butter
- 1 tablespoon flour
- 1 cup heavy cream
- pinch of nutmeg
- 3 egg yolks, beaten
- sliced truffle (optional)

Salt and pepper chicken pieces and saute on 3 tablespoons butter in a broad saucepan over medium flame until golden on all sides. Add garlic, onion, bay leaf and cloves, then add Riesling and water. Simmer until drumsticks are tender to the fork. Remove chicken and keep hot. Reduce pan juices for 5 or 6 minutes and strain.

In a second saucepan, melt 1 tablespoon butter, blend in flour and gradually stir in strained chicken juices. Add heavy cream and nutmeg. Thicken sauce by pouring in egg yolks gradually, always stirring with a whisk, never allowing mixture to boil.

Pour sauce over the chicken and serve. This dish is enhanced by a garniture of sliced truffles and/or saut'eed mushroom caps. Fine noodles are a perfect accompaniment. Serves 4.

Abby: the key to the problem is a key for the door

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my mother-in-law. Rick and I were married last summer and are living with his parents as this is our last year of college, and frankly, the price is right.

Rick and I have our own bedroom, but we have absolutely no privacy. Like none. Rick's mother (I call her "The Inspector General") is forever bursting into our bedroom, unannounced, to "see if the windows are closed," or "if the radiator is on," or if "all the lights are out."

Yesterday I was standing in the hallway when she burst right into the bathroom, knowing that Rick had gone in there to shower. (She said she had to get the soiled towels.) She opened the door wide — and there stood Rick, stark naked.

Naturally he was mad, and shouted "mother." So she calmly said, "Oh, be quiet, I used to diaper YOU."

So, if you know a nice way to get the message across to my mother-in-law that we'd like a little privacy, will you please let me know?

STUMPED IN MADISON

DEAR STUMPED: Other than telling her, the key to the situation could be a key for those doors.

DEAR ABBY: You have printed much about kids who study with loud noise for a background; many say they cannot study without it.

It became my duty to navigate long range aircraft. It took lots of work to learn to do the rapid, intricate task despite the noise; I used to get lost just because my thinking was made fuzzy, and that meant even more, harder work to find myself again in time. But I learned like all the rest.

The noise did another thing. Hours of it, not nearly as loud as the kids play their music, damaged my auditory nerve, destroyed my high frequency hearing. I can no longer understand conversation if there is a background noise — even a whispering fan — and no hearing aid can be fitted to help. Like so many others, I was grounded to keep me away from the noise; that cost me about $60,000 in flight pay. And being primarily a pilot, now of no further use in that job, the noise-caused hearing loss cost me the potentially best part of my career and caused me to become—

Opening lead — queen of diamonds.

What would ordinarily be regarded as an abnormal play may become entirely normal when it is made under circumstances that strongly suggest a deviation from standard operating procedure. Here is a case where such a play paid exceptionally good dividends.

South was faced with the problem of making ten tricks after West led the queen of diamonds. Prospects were certainly poor, since the opening lead indicated that East had the ace of diamonds, which in turn meant that West was sure to have the ace of clubs.

But South made the contract anyhow. He ducked the diamond and ruffed the jack when West continued the suit.

Declarer realized there could be no advantage to entering dummy with a trump to lead a club to the king, so at trick three he played a low club from his hand.

Certainly this play violated the oft-quoted injunction against leading towards weakness instead of strength, but South was well aware that he had to take unusual steps to have a chance for the contract.

West played the nine and East won the ten with the jack. East returned a spade, taken by South with the ace.

Declarer then made his second good play when he led the six of clubs, forcing West to win with the ace. West returned a diamond which South ruffed.

Declarer now drew three rounds of trumps, ending in dummy, and returned a club, finessing the eight and trapping East's queen. The result of his extraordinary handling of the clubs was that he could discard a spade from dummy on his king of clubs and thus make four hearts.

It is interesting to note that South could not have made two club tricks had he initiated the clubs by first leading the suit from dummy.

Youth Advisory Unit Urges Elimination Of Almost All Draft Deferments

By The Associated Press

A youth advisory committee for Nebraska, named late last year by State Selective Service Director Lee Liggett, has recommended elimination of all occupational draft deferments except for some selected teachers.

Student deferments should be retained, the 14-member youth group advocated. But each Selective Service registrant should be placed in the random selection sequence in the calendar year following his 19th birthday. If his number is reached during that calendar year, he becomes subject to induction, either then or when his status as a student eligible for deferment expires.

The advisory committee's report said the present system results in "a disproportionately larger number of non-students" being inducted.

The committee report, submitted to Col. Liggett, was made public Wednesday by the committee chairman, Dennis M. Hetherington, University of Nebraska student and war veteran.

Hetherington last weekend attended a meeting in California of a larger advisory group of youthful representatives from 26 states and Guam. The California group came to a conclusion different from that of the Nebraska group on student deferments.

The group meeting at the White House West at San Clemente, Calif., recommended abolishing student deferments, Hetherington reported.

The Nebraska committee's report said occupational deferments should go only to teachers and even in the case of teachers should be granted "only with extreme discretion."

Teacher deferments "should be granted only when the granting of such a deferment is vitally essential to the school involved," the report said. "Such a deferment should be based on what is good for the student, the school, and the country, not the teacher. It is up to the school to justify the deferment."

Specifically abolished, if the Nebraska group had its way, would be agricultural deferments — II-C.

"The status of agriculture has progressed to the extent that we no longer need to maintain a farm labor force to the exclusion of military service," the report said.

California Zephyr's Final Run Saturday

One of the most popular passenger trains in the West will become part of the nostalgic past at 12:25 a.m. Saturday when the California Zephyr makes its last Lincoln stop en route from Chicago to San Francisco.

The train, whose first-class service and scenic route had made it a symbol of luxury since 1949, has been so plagued by financial losses that the Interstate Commerce Commission in February moved to allow the Western Pacific Railroad to discontinue its section of the line.

The Western Pacific, which had made several requests to the ICC to discontinue the line, was reportedly losing $2,000 per day on the service which ran from Salt Lake City to San Francisco.

The passenger load handled by the Western Pacific has been assumed by the Southern Pacific Railroad, changing the famed tourist route from an itinerary moving through Feather River Canyon to one which will now pass by Reno, Nevada, Lake Tahoe and end in Oakland, Calif.

More important than the route change, however, is the fact that the Zephyr will run the rails only three times a week rather than daily, effective Saturday.

The Denver and Rio Grande Railroads, which operated the middle of the three Zephyr segments, have been authorized to maintain service on the same three-day-a-week basis.

The Chicago to Denver segment which runs through Lincoln has petitioned the ICC for permission to run three-day-a-week service like the other two lines. The ICC, however, has made no decision as yet and, until that time, service will continue to Denver daily.

Boyle Chided For Pension Ignorance

Washington (AP) — A senator probing the United Mine Workers chided UMW President W. A. "Tony" Boyle Wednesday for a "profound lack of knowledge" about the union's pension fund.

"I'm startled that as a trustee you don't have these facts in hand after nine months," Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., told Boyle after failing to elicit specific answers to questions.

"In private life if any trustee had such a profound lack of knowledge . . . he could be sued by the beneficiaries for not carrying out his responsibilities," Pell said.

Laughter

"We are being sued now," Boyle replied, drawing laughter from the crowded hearing room.

The union, it was noted in earlier testimony before the Senate labor subcommittee, is the subject of at least seven separate lawsuits, including one by the Justice Department to set aside Boyle's Dec. 9 re-election as president.

The subcommittee is focusing on charges Boyle engineered a $35 a month increase in retirement benefits last June 24 to win the pensioner vote in the December election.

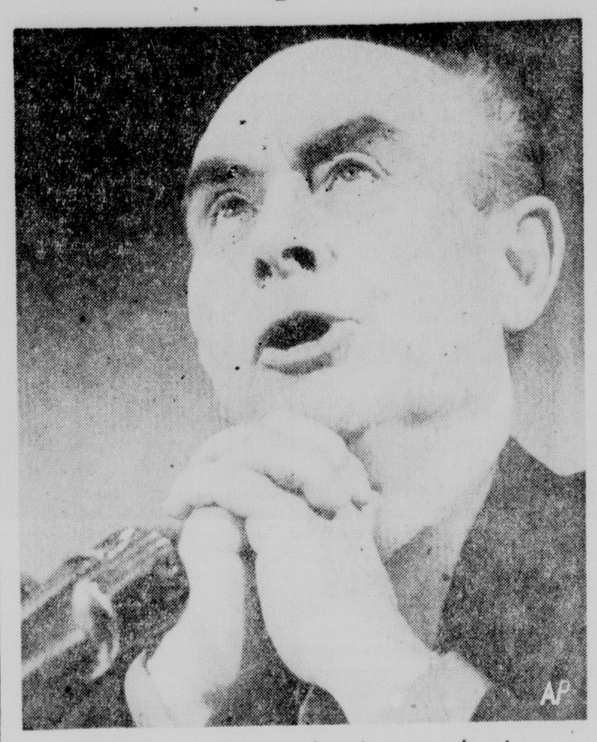

Pell wanted to know among other things how much of the pension fund is invested in stocks and bonds and in what percentages.

Boyle, noting he has been a trustee only since June, said, "I can't carry those figures in my head."

Asked by subcommittee Chairman Harrison A. Williams Jr., D-N.J., if he thought the pension increase affected the vote, Boyle said no.

Politics Denied

"The increase was not politically motivated," Boyle insisted. "This didn't stem out of the election at all as some people would have you believe."

BOYLE . . . denies buying re-election.

The 65-year-old union leader led off the four-hour session with a 15-page statement denying charges by previous witnesses that he misused union funds, intimidated his opponents or engaged in any other violations of federal labor laws.

In a voice rising in anger at times, Boyle dealt point by point with 14 charges made by two sons of the late Joseph A. Yablonski and three other rank-and-file members who supported Yablonski's campaign for union president last year.

Yablonski was murdered with his wife and daughter nearly a month after the election. His two sons, sitting at the rear of the floodlit hearing room, have vowed to carry on their father's fight against Boyle.

Four Ski Guides Die In Avalanche

Val Gardena, Italy (AP) — An avalanche buried 11 Alpine ski guides training on a course near Val Gardena in the Dolomite Alps Wednesday and police said four died.

The guides had left the town of Santa Cristina in Val Gardena early in the day to train along the slopes of Sasslonch Mountain.

A sudden avalanche in the afternoon buried all of them. Five managed to dig their way out of the snow and rescued another two, police reports said.

Four bodies were pulled out of the snow after a few hours.

Dr. Knapp Sees Need For Social Inventions

"We must engage in a certain amount of social inventions, and reappraise our relationships between individuals, families, and society," Dr. David Knapp, dean of the College of Human Ecology at Cornell University said Wednesday evening.

Knapp addressed 200 people at the opening session of the Research Workshop in Child Development and Family Living being held at the Nebraska Center through Friday.

Knapp said we must "begin to look at the human being and his development, and the environment in which he develops."

Parents have become more "permissive" in our fast-paced society today, Knapp said.

Sessions Thursday and Friday will consist of discussions on:

—"The role of the Experiment Station in Child Development and Family Living Research."

—"Systematic Approach to Research Planning and Evaluation."

—"Technology as Related to Research."

—"Exploration of Some Neglected Areas of Child Development and Family Living Research."

Senator Charges Carswell With Unethical 'Bias, Hostility'

Washington (UPI) — Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., charged Wednesday that Supreme Court nominee G. Harrold Carswell violated the canons of judicial ethics by his "bias and hostility" towards lawyers arguing civil rights cases.

It was the first time since President Nixon nominated him that anyone has accused the 50-year-old Florida judge of an ethics transgression.

Cranston said Carswell violated Canons 5, 10 and 34 while serving as a federal district judge prior to his promotion to the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

The three canons set out a judge's conduct on the bench, admonish courtesy and civility to lawyers, and provide that "in every particular his conduct sould be above reproach."

The Cranston confirmation came as the Senate moved through the fourth day of debate on the controversial nomination. Sens. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., and Harold E. Hughes, D-Iowa, in lengthy speeches, denounced the appointment.

The White House said President Nixon remained confident that Carswell will be confirmed but declined comment on the disclosure that Elbert P. Tuttle, formerly chief justice of the 5th Circuit, had changed his mind and declined to testify in Carswell's behalf.

'New Questions'

Senate Democratic leaders Mike Mansfield and Edward M. Kennedy said Carswell's failure to make public Tuttle's unwillingness to testify in behalf of the nomination raised "new questions' about the appointment.

Mansfield said, "As of now he still has the edge," but Kennedy said opposition is increasing and the situation is "more hopeful than it has been in the past."

Senate Republican whip Robert P. Griffin, who backs Carswell, conceded, "It doesn't help, obviously, when a respected jurist like Tuttle withdraws his support."

'Smear Attack'

Florida Sens. Spessard L. Holland and Edward J. Gurney, in a joint statement, charged the campaign against Carswell has "degenerated into a cheap smear attack. . ."

They criticized attempts to accuse Carswell of failing to disclose that Tuttle had declined to testify for Carswell.

"They have gone over his record with a fine tooth comb and come up with nothing," the Florida senators said. "First, he was a racist, then mediocre, and now they are trying to raise the issue of impropriety.

"But that issue, just like the earlier ones, will prove to be wholly without substance," they said.

Colleague Against Carswell

Washington (UPI) — U.S. 5th Circuit Court Judge John Minor Wisdom said Wednesday he could not support the nomination of his court colleague, Judge G. Harrold Carswell, for the Supreme Court, a Washington television station reported.

WTOP-TV quoted Wisdom as saying, "I stand with Tuttle." Retired Judge Elbert Tuttle of the 5th Circuit withdrew an offer to testify in Carswell's behalf, a move widely interpreted as a gesture of opposition to the nomination.

Wisdom told the station that when Carswell's nomination was first announced, the court planned to send a letter of support to the Senate. "If you write that letter, I'll write a dissenting opinion," Wisdom was quoted as telling his coleagues.

Conference Relaxes Federal Judges' Financial Disclosure Rules

Washington (AP) — The Judicial Conference of the United States has reversed former Chief Justice Earl Warren and spared federal judges from having to file annual statements of their income, investments and liabilities.

Meeting earlier this week under Warren E. Burger, the new chief justice, the conference adopted a considerably relaxed disclosure system.

No explanation for the change was given at the Supreme Court, where announcement of the action was made in a press release. Burger was unavailable and lesser officials declined comment or were said to be "in conference."

This was the second major turnabout by the 25-judge conference regarding judicial ethics. Last November the conference, reacting to complaints by judges, dropped a proposed ban on out-of-court work for pay.

The annual reporting proposal and the ban on moonlighting were adopted by the conference last June at Warren's urging.

The new rule requires six-months statements of total income only for extra-judicial services, including lecturing, teaching and writing. Only payments in excess of $100 must be identified.

Additionally, the judges will list gifts worth more than $100 received by them or any members of their immediate household, and any "interests" in parties to cases in which they "knowingly participated."

The conference also told the judges they were not expected to list holdings in a company that, without their knowledge, is part of a large conglomerate, trust or mutual fund.

The statements are to be filed with the clerk of the judge's court and be available for public examination.

Meanwhile, Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., announced that a Senate judiciary subcommittee will hold hearings April 7 and 9 on the judicial conference and judicial councils of the federal appeals courts.

Ervin said the hearings were prompted by proposed legislation dealing with the discipline of federal judges.

Black Muslims To Continue Alabama Farm Operations

Asheville, Ala. (AP) — The Black Muslims decided Wednesday not to sell their St. Clair County farm after all, but went ahead with transfer of their cattle across the state.

The approximately 225 head of cattle were taken to a farm in Greene County during the day, while an investigation continued into the deaths of 64 other cattle on the Muslim farm south of here.

The Muslim leader in Chicago, Elijah Mohammad, several days ago had ordered the sale of the farm and removal of the cattle because of what the Muslims called continued harassment in this area.

But the Muslim director of farming operations, Ollie Hall, and the manager of the Big Beaver Farm here, John Henry Davis, said Wednesday the sale order had been rescinded.

Davis said farming, cannery and processing operations would be continued in St. Clair County.

He called on Alabama Atty. Gen. MacDonald Gallion to find those guilty of shooting and poisoning Muslim cattle. Davis said if protection of the farm broke down, "We're going to protect ourselves and stay right here."

The Rev. E. R. Mayo said he had signed an agreement last Friday to buy the Muslim property for $257,000 and that a Muslim attorney flew to Chicago Monday to get approval of the agreement.

The Muslims paid $236,000 when they bought the property last fall from Ray Wyatt, a white Pell City car dealer whose dealership later burned mysteriously.

Juror Says Loder Had Right To Shoot

Omaha (AP) — A member of the jury that found James Loder innocent of manslaughter says that "according to the law he had the right to shoot. I don't think he intended to kill anyone."

Loder, 31, who was fired as a policeman and charged after the death of 14-year-old Vivian Strong last June, was acquitted Tuesday afternoon after a one-week trial.

Loder, who is white, was charged in the shooting of the Negro girl while he and his partner responded to a burglary report. Three nights of violence followed in the predominantly Negro neighborhood.

The unidentified juror's comments were made in an interview with an Omaha World-Herald reporter.

'No Law And Order'

"I felt that if you don't give police the authority to act we are just not going to have any law and order at all."

The juror said a verdict to acquit Loder was reached Monday night but the jury decided to "sleep on the decision." The verdict was returned at 2:59 p.m. Tuesday.

Loder testified he thought a burglary had been committed, and that he fired his revolver only after shouting warnings to halt to a person who was fleeing from the scene.

Several prosecution witnesses contended Loder had not voiced warnings before he shot the girl.

The juror said early votes Monday afternoon were either 8-4 or 9-3 for acquittal and as the evening progressed agreement came nearer.

Finally, the juror said, all members agreed on acquittal, "but there still were some doubts and we just agreed we should sleep on the decision."

Tuesday morning, the juror said, "we had some membera who still weren't satisfied about some points of law. Atd we went over them again and again."

Dedication Slated For Roca Church

The newly rebuilt United Methodist Church of Roca will be dedicated Palm Sunday, according to Pastor Walt Zentz.

Bishop Noah Moore and Laurence Davis, district superintendent, will take part in the 10 a.m. service. An open house will be observed all day. Refreshments will be served.

The dedication date was incorrectly given as Easter Sunday in the Sunday Journal and Star.

House Okays Trimmed Judgeship Bill

Washington (UPI) — The House voted Wednesday to establish 54 new federal district judgeships in 23 states and territories, and to delete an additional 13 seats previously approved by the Senate.

At the same time, the House approved its Judiciary Committee's decision to omit a Senate provision that would have helped carry out a pet project of Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, creation of court administrator positions to help with the nonjudicial chores of federal circuit courts.

The House bill, approved 366 to 18 on a roll call, was returned to the Senate, which appeared likely to call for appointment of a House-Senate conference committee to reconcile differences.

Several of the deleted judgeships are regarded by Democrats as political plums for incumbent Republicans, including a judgeship in Nebraska that was added in the Senate at the urging of Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb.

Besides 54 permanent new judgeships, the House bill would establish three temporary ones. Seats deleted in the House version are in Florida, Indiana, Maryland, Missouri, Nebraska, New York, Texas and West Virginia.

Meat Chain Operators Hit By Ag Dept.

Washington (AP) — Two Nebraska operators of a coast-to-coast retail meat chain have been ordered to stop their alleged use of "bait and switch" sales tactics which mislead consumers, the Agriculture Department announced Wednesday.

The order was issued against Earl Bruhn and Robert Bruhn, Elkhorn, Nebr., as owners of Bruhn's Service Company Inc., which includes 34 retail meat affiliates across the country.

The order, described as a landmark action, culminated four years of litigation and investigation involving the department and the meat firm.

Department judicial officer Thomas J. Flavin said the order — like a permanent injunction — will become effective on March 28 and will apply to all firms connected with the parent company.

The order, signed by Flavin, resulted from a complaint filed in 1966 under the Packers and Stockyards Act, a fair trade practices law administered by the department.

The order named three of the 34 affiliates as having specifically violated the act relating to meat promotion and sales practices.

Basically, the so-called "bait and switch" practice involves advertising certain cuts of meat at bargain prices and then convincing a consumer he should buy another, more expensive type. It also can involve the actual substitution of meat once a sale has been made.

The three companies named were: Beefland Freezer Meat, Denver; Bruhn's Freezer Meats of Chicago, Inc., doing business as Beefland Freezer Meats, Bristol, Wis.; and Bruhn's Freezer Meats, Alexandria, Va., which now is called "Just Good Meats."

POSTCARD by Stan Delaplane

A sunny day and there are some important changes in frozen pork bellies. I get the morning scam from the financial pages.

A few years ago, I passed up such information. I skipped lightly from Page One to columns. To a couple of comic strips to weather. Then a money man put me into a thing called mutual funds. It changed my life.

Now I flip first to financial. Read the predictions of the experts: "Fannie May Off Again."

"Fannie May is off again," I said across the breakfast table. "What's that mean?" she said. "Well, it's an indication," I said. "The thing now is to see how the second mortgage market reacts."

☆ ☆ ☆

You would think that pork bellies would only influence the future of a hog. But trading in pork bellies futures is a big thing. The wolves of Wall Street and the little pigs.

If a tableful of gamblers at Reno are on the come line when the shooter sevens out — no problem. "Next shooter coming out."

But when a lot of financiers bet pork bellies will go up — and they go down — chaos!

The President issued messages of confidence. The experts claim to have seen the handwriting on the wall.

The losers suit up for a long jump out the fortieth floor window.

"Mutual funds is one way to ward off inflation," said the money man. "Is there any other way, money man?" I asked.

"Well," he said. "There's real estate. If you want to take that chance. There are second mortgages — if you like that. Frankly, I don't."

I said: "What do you like, money man?"

He put me into mutual funds.

They went up. Then they went down. I called his office. The secretary said: "He's taking a short vacation."

I said: "In Brazil maybe? Did he leave with no luggage except a brief case chained to his wrist?"

☆ ☆ ☆

I went to the medic for a semi-annual checkup. Used to be I just took an aspirin. Now I go in for servicing like a sports car.

The doctor said: "Hmmm." He pumped up the judas cuff wrapped around my arm and listened. He let the air out—hisssssssss.

He said: "Been getting enough sleep? Worried about anything?"

I said: "Worried about anything! Did you see that Ling-Temco-Vought put up a $30 million reserve for possible losses if they sell Braniff and Okonite?"

He said: "I've been staying in electronics. But now I'm not so sure."

I said: "I think that market is overpriced. I look for a drop to shake out the sheep." I said, "Doc, are you getting enough sleep? Those circles under the eyes . . ."

☆ ☆ ☆

The beauty part about mutual funds is the fund invests in hundreds of things. We are in airlines and electronics. Frozen pork bellies and minerals.

There is no day when I look in the gamblers' sundown but what we are losers on some thing.

Thus by the simple act of preserving my future, I find my future melting. Like a frozen pork belly.

☆ ☆ ☆

I said to the house wren: "Is time running out on peak returns from corporate bonds? Coca Cola earnings are up. But I don't like the look of computers."

She said: "It's only on paper, isn't it?"

I said: "You don't understand what we traders go through."

She said: "Why don't you sell that stock?"

I said: What? Give up my frozen future in Wall Street?"

Stanley Named To Merit Council

Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann announced Wednesday the appointment of Ray E. Stanley, president of the Center Bank in Omaha, to a three-year term on the Nebraska Merit System Council.

The council serves the merit system for employes of the State Departments of Health, Labor and Welfare, and Offices of Civil Defense, Comprehensive Health Planning and the Advisory Committee for Aging.

Tiemann: Some Spending Curbs Lifted

By Associated Press

Nebraska has been notified that some of the federally-encouraged curbs on governmental spending, including outlays for highways, have been lifted, Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann reported Wednesday.

The White House telegram advised that highway and other capital construction projects henceforth may proceed without the voluntary restrictions in the form of cutbacks and deferments previously made by many of the states, including Nebraska.

However, the wire said President Nixon, in his battle against inflation, will continue to cut back and defer projects which are 100% federally financed, as had previously been directed.

What the policy change does for Nebraska's road program, Gov. Tiemann said, is to release the fourth quarterly obligational authority, expected on March 30, and gives assurance that the next fiscal year's obligational authority will be forthcoming on an orderly basis.

The telegram received by Tiemann came from Nils A. Boe, director of the Office of Intergovernmental Relations at the White House.

Corn, Oats, Soybeans Acreage Rise Expected

By The Associated Press

If Nebraska farmers carry out current intentions, they will plant more corn, oats, barley, soybeans and potatoes this year than they did last year.

But fewer acres would go into sorghums, dry beans and sugar beets.

Results of a recent survey of planting intentions were reported Wednesday by the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics.

Varying weather conditions could change the picture, the division noted, and some farmers have not yet made decisions with respect to participation in the 1970 feed grain program.

Acres planted to wheat last fall dropped off by 11%, although rye acreage, also planted in the fall, increased.

Growers now indicate they plan to plant 5,259,000 acres to corn, up 3% from last year's 5,106,000. The acreage, if it materializes, would be the highest for corn since 1963 when 5,409,000 acres were planted.

Sorghum Intentions Down

Intended sorghum plantings of 1,741,000 acres are down 6% from last year's 1,852,000 acres. Better moisture conditions could cause a shift from sorghum to corn. As it now stands, the 1970 acreage would be the smallest for sorghum since 1961.

Oats planting intentions involve 703,000 acres, up 3% from last year's 683,000 acres.

Growers indicate they will plant a record 858,000 acres to soybeans, up 4% from last year's 825,000 acres.

Growers who planted 92,800 acres to sugar beets last year intend to plant 83,000 acres this year.

Dry bean plantings will be down from 100,000 acres to 92,000 acres, according to the planting intentions.

Petition Seeks To Save Bayard Wildhorse Dam

Scottsbluff (AP) — A petition was taken to Lincoln Wednesday asking Gov. Norbert Tiemann to help save the Wildhorse Reservoir north of Bayard.

The petition, containing 1,730 signatures, asks the governor to exert his "legal and political influence" to prevent draining the 55-acre reservoir.

The dam was built of earth instead of concrete, as some persons had proposed. It was built with state and federal tax monies as a flood control protection.

Jigging Gets Fish

Most fishermen agree that jigging is one of the most effective ways of catching fish but most fishermen would rather use some type of lure than the common jig.

The jig doesn't have an extremely large following among the ranks of the less experienced anglers . . . probably because these anglers believe that they are difficult and boring to use.

Well, in a certain way they are correct . . . it is a difficult lure to use as the jig has no action of its own and depends on the angler's own experience and skill to attract fish.

Because of this difference, most anglers think it's dull in comparison to other lures.

Answer . . . Wigly Jig

A lure made by the Lazy Ike Corporation has a built-in action that is easy to use for anyone.

The Wigly Jig has a specifically designed spoonlike protrusion molded into its lead head which serves two purposes. It gives the lure a special wobbling action attractive to fish and it also causes it to plane up on the water so it is far easier to control than the ordinary jig.

It also has semi-weedless characteristics so it gets far fewer hangups than its counterparts.

Another good aspect about the jig is anyone can use it. Experienced anglers can put their own action on them and novices can depend on the built-in action.

All Anglers Catch 'Em

Twenty-five species of the prolific family sunfish are found in North America. They fall into three major groups: the black basses, true sunfish and crappies.

Though they are known to anglers under several different names, they are all caught by every angler using every kind of bait and lure mentionable.

Spring is the spawning season for these fishes and anglers pursue them in lakes and rivers everywhere. In clear, gravel-bottom streams, spawning beds are seen as round depressions in shallow water.

Fishing is good for this type of fish during the spring, and the angler doesn't have to worry about depleting the population by taking the fish from their spawning nests.

Successful angling methods include live bait, flies and small spinning lures. Crickets and cane poles are ideal for the small angler.

A hint for campers is to purchase a painter's drop cloth to place under their tent before pitching it.

The drop cloth will prevent moisture from the ground seeping into the tent floor and getting soaking wet. Not only will it feel better on bare feet, it will prevent the cloth floor from rotting.

In response to many queries, I can't say which fly will work the best for Rainbow Trout. However, I wouldn't believe of going trout fishing without a Royal Coachman in my fly box along with a yellow Doctor Noble. Hope that helps someone.

Size, Loss Of Lanier Dim Bonnies' Hopes

College Park, Md. (AP) — Coach Larry Weise of St. Bonaventure said Wednesday the loss of injured star Bob Lanier was comparable to the Boston Celtics losing Bill Russell.

Weise made the agonizing analogy as the Bonnies practiced at the University of Maryland for Thursday night's Eastern finals against Jacksonville University in the NCAA basketball championships.

Defending champion UCLA, winner of the national title in five of the past six years, will play New Mexico State in the Western finals Thursday with the winners to play for the championship Saturday afternoon.

Weise noted that Coach Tom Heinsohn of the Celtics, who failed to make the National Basketball Association playoffs this season after ruling the league for years, said his club took all year to get used to playing without Russell.

"We've got to try to get used to playing without Lanier in two days," Weise said. "It presents somewhat of a problem."

Lanier, the 6-11 All-American who averaged 29 points a game, suffered a torn knee ligament in the East regionals against Villanova and underwent an operation last Sunday.

Jacksonville will present a starting lineup which includes Artis Gilmore, 7-2, Pembrook Burrows 7 feet, and Rod McIntyre 6-10. St. Bonaventure's two tallest players are 6-5.

"We will be at a tremendous physical handicap," Weise said. "Our chief concern is how badly we get hurt on the boards. But the boys have a positive attitude and came here in good spirits."

Weise indicated that while the obvious solution would seem to be ball control, it would be difficult for the Bonnies to accomplish.

"How do you hold the ball after 26 games of not holding the ball?" Weise asked rhetorically. "That would be a drastic change."

"We must shoot well," Weise said, "Play the defense we possibly can and try to hold our own on the boards. Lanier not only scored points for us, but he prevented points on defense through intimidation."

Before leaving home, the Bonnies visited Lanier Tuesday night in a Buffalo hospital, where he is expected to remain a few more weeks.

The Bonnies, 25-1, will be decided underdogs against Jacksonville, 26-1. UCLA rates a slight nod over New Mexico State in a game matching two teams with 26-2 records.

PITCHERS SCURRY TO HIDE

Exhibition Scores Look More Like Grid Figures

. . . SEATTLE WINS 19-14 SLUGFEST

By Associated Press

The lively experimental baseball with five per cent more bounce to the ounce made its weekly appearance on the exhibition baseball circuit Wednesday and the pitchers spent the rest of the day looking for a safe place to hide.

Some of the scores resembled football more than baseball.

—Cleveland and Seattle walloped seven home runs, four by the Pilots, who scored seven runs in the ninth inning and won a 19-14 slugfest.

—The Detroit Tigers pounded five pitchers for 21 hits and outlasted the Chicago White Sox 19-13.

—The Washington Senators scored five runs in the 11th inning and outslugged the Kansas City Royals 18-13.

—The Chicago Cubs scored twice in the ninth inning to win a 32-hit, wind-blown game from the Oakland A's 12-11.

—The Houston Astros had a pair of four-run innings and trounced the Cincinnati Reds 10-5.

Gerry McNertney hit two homers for the Pilots while Mike Hershberger and pitcher Steve Barber also connected. Jack Heidemann hit a pair for the Indians and Ted Ford added a grand slam. Seattle outhit Cleveland 18-16.

Dick McAuliffe belted two homers and Bill Freehan one for the Tigers while Cesar Gutierrez collected four hits. Rich McKinney had four hits and drove in five runs for the White Sox.

Tommy Grieve went 4-for-4, walked three times, scored three runs and drove in two in Washington's five-run 11th inning. Eddie Brinkman, who has hit only three homers in three seasons, smacked one over 400 feet for the Senators while Lou Piniella, George Spriggs and Ed Kirkpatrick unloaded for the Royals, who were outhit 17-16.

The Cubs sneaked by Oakland even though they were outhit 17-15, Jim Hickman hit two homers and Roe Skidmore and Ken Rudolph one each for the winners.

Denis Menke and Joe Pepitone hit consecutive homers in Houston's triumph over Cincinnati while Tony Perez hammered a three-run shot for the Reds.

Richie Allen and Steve Carlton made their spring debuts for the St. Louis Cardinals but couldn't prevent a 4-2 loss to the Pittsburgh Pirates. Allen grounded out, fanned, flied out and homered while Carlton was touched for three runs in three innings, including a homer by Dave Cash. Bob Veale hurled five scoreless innings for the Pirates.

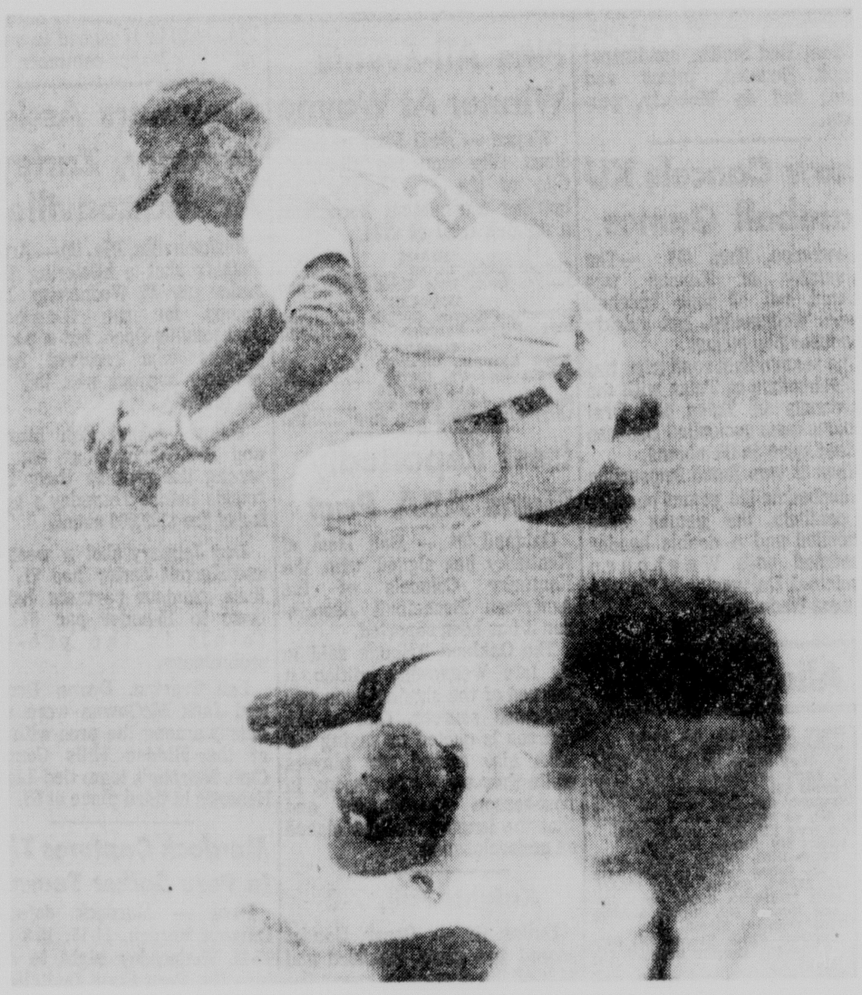

Rookie Bill Buckner rapped out a single, double and triple to lead the Los Angeles Dodgers over the Minnesota Twins 8-2. The Dodgers scored all their runs off Luis Tiant.

Boston's Joe Lahound and George Scott and Philadelphia's Johnny Briggs homered in the Red Sox' 6-5 win over the Phillies. Nate Colbert drove in four runs as the San Diego Padres beat the California Angels 8-5.

In night action, Fritz Peterson allowed two hits in six innings and hit his first home run ever as the New York Yankees trounced the New York Mets 8-1. Thurman Munson also homered for the Yanks.

The Atlanta Braves downed the Montreal Expos 7-5 with 46-year-old Hoyt Wilhelm hurling five innings of one-hit ball.

The Baltimore Orioles pushed across five unearned runs in the third inning and beat the Mexico City Tigers 9-4.

KNOPP UPENDED . . . Bobby Knopp, second baseman for the Chicago White Sox, is upended by the Detroit Tigers' Ike Brown. Brown was forced out at second in the fifth inning, but Knopp was unable to make the throw to first.

Stockton's Putter Hot OnceAgain

Jacksonville, Fla. (AP) —Dave Stockton refound his lost putting touch in a moonlight stroll over a deserted golf course and ranks as one of the favorites for the $20,000 top prize in the Greater Jacksonville Open Golf Tournament.

"I felt lost, helpless," said Stockton, generally regarded as one of the finest putters on the pro tour. "I told my wife I had something to do and I came out to the course about 9 'clock and just walked around by myself for a while.

"I just had to get off by myself and do some thinking," he said. "I just couldn't believe my luck was as bad as it was. I'd been putting terribly for a year but this was just incredible."

That was just before the final round of last week's Monsanto Open. Whatever the problem, Stockton obviously solved it.

He used a fantastic 24 putts in his last round, charged out of the pack with a sparking four under par 67 and took second behind winner Dick Lotz.

That solid performance by the always dangerous Stockton stamped him as one of the top choices in the 72 hole Jacksonville test that begins Thursday on the 6,983-yard, par 72 Hidden Hills Country Club course.

But while Stockton's credentials were all in order, most of the attention centered on golf's big three — Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and South African Gary Player.

That awesome trio, playing together for the first time this year, is certain to draw the lion's share of the gallery and must rank high among the list of favorites.

Other top contenders include Ray Floyd, the defending champion who appears to have snapped a slump that has plagued him since he won the PGA national championship last year, 1970 leading money winner Lotz, big Bob Lunn and British Open champion Tony Jacklin.

Naskra Beaten In Stakes

Hallandale, Fla. (AP) — Corn Off The Cob pulled away from a solidly beaten Naskra in the stretch Wednesday to win by four lengths in the $34,950 Fountain of Youth Stakes and become a star contender for the Kentucky Derby.

Angel Cordero had an open road once he blazed past John Rotz, who managed to bring Naskra home second in the 1 1-6 mile race for 3-year olds at Gulf Stream Park.

Long shot Nehoc's Brother was third with Eddie Maple up. Ring For Nurse, considered a Derby candidate along with the 1-2 finishers, faded badly and finished eighth in the 12-horse field.

Corn Off The Cob was a surprising second to My Dad George in the Flamingo to two weeks ago when odds-on choice Silent Screen ran poorly and wound up eighth at Hialeah.

The black colt won $24,950 for the Fence Post Farm. Hehas now won five of 11 races and more than $75,000.

Corn Off The Cob was timed at 1:44 3-5 and paid $4.20, $2.80 and $2.80 as the even money choice of a crowd of 15,373. Naskra went off at 5-2 and returned $3.60 and $3.60. Show horse Nehoc's Brother paid $9.40.

"My horse bounced around a little at the first turn but we got straightened out," said Cordero. "When he saw an opening, he really took off. He ran a game race and showed me plenty of class."

All but one of the 12 horses are nominees for the Florida Derby March 28 and trainer Arnie Winich said if Corn Off The Cob "comes out of this race in good condition, we'll be back for the Florida Derby. After that I'll give him a rest. He will need it."

Behind the top three horses were, in order, Bold Day, Binvivant, Hubbub, Boy Behave, Ring For Nurse, Dubby Fathom, Dust Commander and Brave Emperor.

Senior Quintet Named To Class D All-State

By VIRGIL PARKER
Prep Sports Writer

Five senior small-school stars, one of whom appeared in the state tournament, are named to the 1970 Lincoln Star Class D all-state high school basketball team.

Lonnie Benson, who was instrumental in the season-long success of Shickley, which climaxed with the Longhorns winning the state championship, is the only state tourney performer to be honored.

Benson is joined by Sterling's Galen Boldt, Ben Desmond of Cambridge, Wolbach's Steve Grossart and Gary Filipi from Milligan.

The improved caliber of coaching in the small schools throughout the state makes it no longer possible for a single outstanding player to assure a state tourney berth for his school.

Though Benson led the balloting among his Shickley teammates, every starter on coach Richard Ideus' title team was named on at least one all-state ballot from opposing coaches.

Ideus called Benson "most consistent", adding that "his ball handling, passing and great defensive play was a major factor in our success."

Benson led the Longhorns in assists while averaging 13.5 points per game.

Boldt, who played in the shadow of two-time all-state Cal Christline when Sterling captured the Class D crown last year, came into his own this season.

Sterling played half its schedule this season against Class C teams. Boldt's candidacy for all-state received a big boost when he was highly recommended by coaches from the larger schools.

Desmond, who helped Cambridge to the Class C state tourney semifinals a year ago, scored 926 career points, with 506 of them coming during his senior season.

The 6-3 sharpshooter averaged 22 points a game, but coach Don Morgan says that "it certainly could have been higher, but his unselfishness as a team player — while holding down his point production — certainly contributed greatly to our overall success." Cambridge finished the year with a 22-2 record.

The highest field goal percentage belongs to Wolbach's Grossart. "Most of his baskets came from the 20-30 foot range," coach Jim Marco says. "Despite double and triple-teaming, Steve connected on an amazing 72 per cent of his shots."

Grossart piled up 1,777 points during his four years as a varsity player, with 627 of them coming during his final campaign.

The Wolbach ace averaged 29.9 points per game this past year. His top night was a 45-point effort against Elba.

In addition to his scoring ability, Grossart pulled down an average of 18 rebounds a game.

Another set of impressive statistics belong to Milligan's Filipi. He averaged 27.5 points per game while pouring a total of 550 points through the nets.

Gary's biggest night was a 44-point effort. Through the season he popped in 207 of 355 shots for a 58 per cent average and hit 136 of 207 free throws for 67 per cent.

At 195 pounds, Filipi used his 6-2 height to greatest advantage around the boards. In one game he was credited with 31 rebounds.

A big battle erupted for a place on the all-state team as heavy support was received for every player to make the Honor Roll.

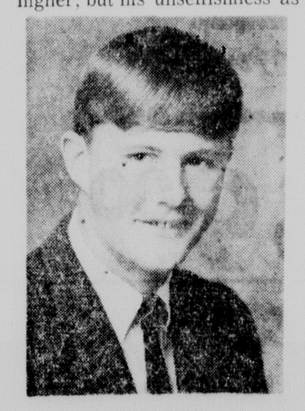

Three seniors and a pair of sophomores were barely nudged from a starting position. Elmwood's Dan Beck, Ryan Hawley of Republican City and Dorchester's Bill Boller were the seniors who just missed the top five, while Odell's Earl Spitsnogle and Corky Charles of Mead were the sophomores who came the closest to breaking into the select group.

Attendance Gain

With two new teams in the league, the National League in 1969 drew 15,094,946 paid admissions, an increase of 3,309,588 over 1968.

—OFFENSIVE AND DEFENSIVE STARS WILL CLASH—

Marquette's Sewell Will Guard LSU's Maravich

New York (AP) — Pete Maravich might be the most dazzling offensive basketball player to come along but Marquette coach Al McGuire thinks defense can be exciting, too. That means Jeff Sewell better be pretty exciting Thursday night.

Sewell, a 6-foot-3 senior guard, was given the job of continuing Maravich's National Invitation Tournament troubles when Marquette tries to slow down Louisiana State and Maravich in the semifinals at 9 p.m. EST.

The game will follow the other semi between St. John's, N.Y., and Army, two defensive-minded teams, at 7 p.m. in Madison Square Garden.

The nationally-televised final will be at 1 p.m. Saturday after the 11 a.m. third place contest.

The Marquette-LSU battle will be a classic struggle of offense vs. defense with the Warriors, 24-3 and ranked eight in the country, the nation's ninth best defensive club, and LSU, scoring at a 94.9 clip, fourth in the country on offense.

Maravich, of course, averaged 46.6 points per game and is major college basketball's all-time high career scorer, although he has been held to 57 points in two NIT victories.

"I think defense can be exciting," McGuire explained while his team worked out Wednesday.

I've tried to start a type of charisma about defense at Marquette. If LSU scores 90-92 points against us, we're out of it."

McGuire plans man-to-man and zone press defenses against Maravich and the Tigers, and Sewell has been given the job of shadowing Pistol Pete.

"Sewell is quicker than anyone we have so we'll start with him," McGuire said. "But we'll have to go with our bench more to keep fresh and to avoid foul trouble."

Sewell already has gone up against Austin Carr of Notre Dame and Rich Mount of Purdue and neither had great nights against him or the Marquette defense which has held teams to 64.9 points a game.

But he points out that Carr and Mount are mostly shooters who move without the ball. Maravich handles the ball more.

"I'll just try to get the best position I can and hope for help," he said, or as McGuire said:

"Guard him and then after he gets the ball—pray."

St. John's and Army don't have to worry much about stopping the fast break. Cadets are the top defensive team in the country, 52.0, and the Redmen eight at 63.6.

"It should be another knock down, drag out battle," predicted army coach Bobby Knight, whose Cadets lost to St. John's earlier this season 54-44 at St. John's. "We both know each other very well."

Army, although 21-5, wasn't expected to get this far, but the Redmen, 20-7, playing for departing coach Lou Carnesecca, were expected to beat Miami of Ohio and Georgia Tech.

'Clink' Clair Dies After Illness

Omaha (AP) —Clarence H. "Clink" Clair, retired Courthouse employe and one of Omaha's most colorful sports personalities, died Tuesday night. He had been hospitalized about 2½ weeks.

Clair's baseball career dated back to 1909 and he had been a boxing timer since 1912. He played or managed baseball at Kewanee, Ill.; Omaha; Sioux City; St. Joseph, Mo.; Nebraska City; Grand Island; Dallas, S.D.; Mason City, Iowa and Kearney, Neb.

His teams won several championships, and later he was manager of the top-notch Murphy-Did-Its of the Omaha Metro League.

Bank Of California Claims Right To Sell Pilot Franchise

Seattle (AP) — The next, and possibly climatic, round in the temporarily deadlocked struggle over the Seattle Pilots franchise opens here Friday in King County Superior Court with a new principal in the fray.

The Bank of California, which holds a $3.5 million note owed by the baseball club, has filed a motion to intervene in the $82 million damage suit brought by the State of Washington and City of Seattle.

The bank will join the American League in seeking to dissolve the legal restraints that prevented the 12 club owners at their meeting in Tampa, Fla., Tuesday from shifting the Pilots franchise to Milwaukee.

The 9:30 a.. Friday hearing will be at the arena. There the league, the owners and the bank will argue against granting of a temporary injunction and dismissal of the temporary restrainers.

The bank said it has the power to sell the Pilots franchise because Pacific Northwest Sports, Inc., operator of the club, owes $3.5 million of a $4 million loan made to acquire the franchise in 1968. An injunction against moving the franchise, the bank said, would jeopardize its loan.

Three temporary restrainers stand in the league's way of bidding Seattle goodby after an ardent courtship, brief and stormy marriage, and general alienation of affections.

The state and city obtained one restrainer Monday. Seattle attorney Alfred J. Schweppe, engaged in a personal vendetta with the league, got another restrainer here last week and one Tuesday in Tampa.

Schweppe has agreed to have his Seattle show-cause hearing, originally set for Thursday, combined with the state-city hearing Friday. What happens to the Tampa restrainer hinges on the outcome here.

In a related development, it was disclosed Wednesday that the American League apparently had been ready before the Tampa meeting to accept the same nonprofit purchase proposal from a group of Seattle businessmen it rejected Feb. 11

Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn last week approached hotel executive Edward E. Carlson, head of the group, asking if he could reactivate the plan.

Royals Level Blast At NCAA Charges

Kansas City (AP) — An official of the Kansas City Royals said Wednesday the National Collegiate Athletic Association is unduly alarmed over the baseball academy the American League team is establishing at Sarasota, Fla.

Syd Thrift, director of the Royals academy — due to open this summer — answered a warning issued by the NCAA in its latest monthly newsletter.

The NCAA warning says, in part, " . . . all those tried out will be made ineligible for college athletics because the club will pay travel expenses and living expenses while the prospect is in the academy." The NCAA said such payments would violate its regulations governing aid to athletes.

The NCAA said youngsters accepting any payments from the academy will be ineligible for participation in athletics at any member institution.

Thrift said no boy will be enrolled at the academy unless he first is signed to a professional baseball contract of one of the Royals' minor league teams. Thus, the boy automatically would be ineligible for collegiate competition, but would be a payroll employe of the Royals.

Thrift also said no boy attending a Royals tryout camp would be compensated in any unless he was signed to a contract, thus retaining his amateur status.

"The NCAA has made an inaccurate statement," said Thrift. "This is an inference that we are trying to cause ineligibility of the high school student. Nothing can be further from the truth. We are not transporting anyone to Sarasota Fla., until he is signed to one of our minor league contracts."

Jacksonville, Fla. (AP)— Arnold Palmer shot a blistering four-under par 68 Wednesday in a tuneup for the Greater Jacksonville Open, but a pair of players who received heavy amateur support won the pro-am prelude.

Palmer joined Bob Murphy and Bill Maxwell at 68, low among the pros in their final rounds before Thursday's opening of the $100,000 event.

Don January shot a weak 74 and Kermit Zarley had 71, but their amateur partners helped them to 15-under par 57 net totals in the pro-am preliminary.

NIAC's First Indoor Track Meet At Doane

. . . TIGERS OPEN NEW FUHRER GYM

Crete — The long awaited opening of Doane's new physical education plant, the $750,000 Tartan-surfaced Fuhrer Physical Education Building, will come about Friday afternoon as the Tigers host the first annual Nebraska Intercollegiate Athletic Conference indoor track championships.

The State of events gets under way at 4 p.m. with the preliminaries going until 5:50. The second and final session commences at 7:30 with the final event, the mile relay, scheduled to begin at 9:15.

Doane, the conference's cross country champion and winner of the NIACs' initial basketball tournament this winter at Fremont, goes into the meet as solid favorites to top the six-team field that includes Concordia, Dana, Hastings, Nebraska Wesleyan and Midland.

The Tigers are led into action by Panamanian sophomore Ricardo Bailey, second place finisher in the recently completed Central American Games 800-meter run and winner of the USTFF college division 880 last month at Omaha. In January Bailey took fourth place at the NAIA's National Indoor Championships in the half-mile.

Also ranking high for Tiger head coach Al Papik and assistant Fred Beile are Fairbury Junior Colege transfer Rich Zenger who last week broke the school long jump record with a leap of 23-7¼ and two-time Doane Night relays spring champion Burrell Williams.

In the rest of the field, coach Jerry Bean's Hastings Broncos appear to be strong in the sprint events with top dash men Bob Kohl and George Watson returning. The Broncos also should be tough in the shotput with transfers Scott Shelbourne and Dan Wassenberg each having thrown for better than 50 feet in 1969. The Broncos also boast the state's top high school half-miler of last year in Rick Waldron of Minden.

The distance events are the strong point of Woody Greeno's 1970 Nebraska Wesleyan squad with freshmen Bob Graham and Andy Aiken leading a talented corps that includes veterans Greg Jones and Jack McVay. Concordia is hoping that they can cash in on the efforts of hurdlers Rod Goehmann and Jim Luepke and 600-yard man Rich Bergt to get them their needed points.

Schedule of events:

Welterweight Dick Pelster of the Omaha team lost a decision to Melvin Dennis of Fort Worth.

Jim Waters, Fairbury Junior College middleweight substituting for the Midwest middleweight champion Dan Island, was outpointed by Dennis Goodhart of Carroll College, of the Billings, Mont., team.

Omaha heavyweight Morris Jackson, was ousted by a TKO after Michael Boswell, 24-year-old 212-pound sheet metal worker with the Cleveland team decked him four times.

'Dutch' White Scholarship Established

A memorial scholarship in honor of a former Nebraska athlete, Willard "Dutch" A. White, has been established in the University of Nebraska Foundation.

The donor is his brother, Elmer F. White of Pawnee City, who contributed $4,000 to the Foundation for the endowed fund.

After being invested for five years, the fund will support an annual scholarship to a university student, with preference given to an athlete and to graduates of Pawnee County high schools.

A 1930 graduate, Dutch White lettered three years each in football and basketball and two in baseball. He was a member of the Innocents Society.

Fort Randall To Enhance Pike Spawn

Omaha (AP) — Col. O. H. Robinson, acting Missouri River Division engineer, said Wednesday the Army Engineers will regulate Fort Randall Dam this spring to enhance the spawn of northern pike.

He said the reservoir will be raised as soon as practical to an elevation covering about three feet of vegetation, considered satisfactory for pike spawning.

He aid the level will be maintained through the northern pike spawning period, weather permitting.

Col. Robinson xaid Big Bend pool will be maintained near as constant a pool elevation as practical through the spawning period so spawning may also be enhanced there.

He said high pool elevations during the past year and consequent lack of vegetative cover make special operations impractical during 1970 to enhance spawning at the other main stem reservoirs.

Ron Curl of Chicago, Michigan State defensive tackle, blocked four punts for the Spartans last season. He also blocked one extra point attempt.

—SEASON UNDERWAY FRIDAY—

Fonner Opening To See 800 Horses

Grand Island — Horse racing returns to Nebraska on Friday with the season getting under way in Grand Island and running in the Third City 30-days through April 29.

There will be no racing in Grand Island on March 27 (Good Friday) or on Mondays with the exception of April 20 and 27.

General manager, Al Swihart, was enthusiastic when he appraised the outlook for the coming season. "We expect to have nearly 800 of the finest horses we have ever had in Grand Island by the opening of our meeting, then another 125 are to be shipped in at the close of the Oaklawn meeting.

"The rider outlook seems just as bright. Last year we were a bit short of riders, but this season there should be at least 40 jockeys checked in by the second week of the meeting."

The early nominations to the $3,000 Fonner Park Inaugural would seem to support Swihart's appraisal of the quality of horses that will be on hand.

The 12 three year olds named to the five and one half furlong handicap are Vagabond Flyer, Sound of Maye, Classy Admiral, Miss The Road, Battling Moon, Navashane, Spear Point, Real Chance, Tenino Pride, Mail Messenger, Cheiron Duke, and Phil Joy.

Fonner Park will inaugurate perfecta wagering in Nebraska with the opening of its 1970 racing season. This means of wagering has been used in other states for a number of years and involves selecting the two top finishers in a race in their exact order of finish.

The perfecta will be presented on the final race each day. Should it gain the popularity that is expected, it will also be offered on an earlier race.

Post time during the week at Fonner Park will be 3 p.m. The first field of horses will go to the post an hour earlier on Saturday.

Soviet SAM3 Missiles, Troops Arrive In Egypt

©The New York Times

New York — A large number of Soviet troops and modern SAM3 antiaircraft missiles have arrived in Egypt in the last week, according to information reaching here from reliable diplomatic sources in Cairo.

The missiles, designed to cope with low-flying enemy aircraft, are rapidly being put into position at the port city of Alexandria, at an air base west of Cairo and elsewhere in Egypt, it was reported.

Soviet soldiers have been observed driving trucks bearing the missiles on the desert highway linking Cairo with Alexandria.

Closed At Intervals

For the last week, according to the diplomatic sources, the highway has been closed to foreigners at inervals, and there have been rumors that it may be closed indefinitely to Western residents in Egypt.

The number of Soviet troops arriving in Egypt with the missiles, estimated from 1,500 upward, suggested to diplomatic observers that the Russians would operate the antiaircraft weapons and the coupled radar support facilities.

Concern has been voiced about Soviet reaction if Israeli aircraft attacked the new missile sites, killing or wounding Russians. The Soviet Union might then feel compelled, it has been said, to send fighter squadrons to protect the antiaircraft forces.

The SAM-3 missiles have become important to the defense of Egypt since the Israeli action, undertaken in January, involving low-level air strikes against military targets in the heart of the country.

SAM2s Raided

Many of the Israeli raids have been directed against Soviet-supplied SAM2 missiles, which are effective against high-flying aircraft to an altitude of 60,000 feet but are generally unable to bring down low-flying planes.

The arrival of SAM-3 missiles in Egypt, however, appears to have confronted the Israeli air force with the risk of a greater loss rate if the raids are continued.

Of the handful of Israeli planes shot down by Egyptians thus far, most have been brought down by conventional antiaircraft weapons. Only one instance has been reported in which an Israel plane was brought down by a missile.

Moscow's decision to send antiaircraft missile units to Egypt became almost inevitable, according to some analysts, after Israeli air strikes in the vicinity of Cairo in January and early February.

Sheet Metal Men Still Won't Talk

Washington (AP) — The AFL-CIO Sheet Metal Workers Union boycotted again Wednesday a Nixon administration effort to settle the railroad labor dispute in which Congress has temporarily blocked a nationwide strike.

"Further meetings are futile unless there is a dramatic change in the situation," said Sheet Metal Workers vice president J. W. O'Brien in a telegram to Asst. Secretary of Labor W. J. Usery.

Calcutta Crisis Worse

Calcutta (AP) — Troops were called out to quell fresh outbreaks of violence on the outskirts of Calcutta Wednesday as the political crisis in West Bengal state worsened.

Despite an end to a 24-hour strike called by the militant Marxist Communist Party, rival leftist parties continued to clash with the Marxists in different parts of the state.

Army units were sent to the heavily industrialized suburbs of Calcutta, where the worst violence erupted during the strike.

Police said widespread arson and looting had taken place in the suburban Hooghly district, where 13 homes were set on fire, leaving at least five persons dead.

The official statewide toll from two days of violence rose to 31 dead.

The political crises, triggered by the collapse of the Marxist-dominated state government, took a turn for the worse when the Marxists rejected a request from Gov. S. S. Dhawan to prove they have majority support in the state assembly before being asked to form a new government.

Israelis Retaliate For Raids By Arabs Based In Lebanon

By The Associated Press

Israeli raiders attacked a Lebanese village Thursday in retaliation for raids against Israel by Lebanese-based Arab guerrillas.

The Israeli military command in Tel Aviv said the raiding party struck the village of Blida, one mile west of the border, and blew up two houses owned by saboteurs.

Israeli spokesmen said the strike was in retaliation for 44 Arab guerrilla strikes across the Lebanese border since Jan. 1, five in the last week.

The latest incident reported was Wednesday night, when guerrillas blew up a water pump and a pylon in the Yiftah settlement on the Israeli side of the border.

Tel Aviv said there were no Israeli casualties.

The attacks and counterattacks came as tension mounted between the Lebanese government and Arab guerrilla groups.

Palestinian guerrillas charged Wednesday night that regular Lebanese army troops had lured three guerrillas into an ambush and had riddled their car with bullets, killing one and seriously wounding the other two.

Lebanon's defense ministry said in a communique that three Lebanese soldiers also were wounded in the clash, on the outskirts of the market town of Bint Jhail near Lebanon's border with Israel.

The communique said the incident was the result of "confusion and misunderstanding" and expressed sorrow over the bloodshed.

It's 'Most Dastardly Act In History' Of Internal Revenue

Reno Nev. (AP) — Federal agents have closed Nevada's biggest brothel in a dispute over a $50 tax stamp. The owner calls it "the most dastardly single act in the history of the Internal Revenue Service."

"Just because the maids gave some customers a few drinks, and in turn accepted a single dollar as a tip for the drinks, they have confiscated all the premises, all the belongings, all the money," said Joe Conforte, once described by the FBI as the "Bawdy House Baron of Nevada."

Conforte moved his girls from their trailers at the Mustang Ranch 15 miles east of here and said he's "still operating" at another ranch.

The raid was by agents from San Francisco and Sacramento, Calif. An IRS source said property was seized and the girls ordered to leave.

Conforte said agents told him the drinks were sold without a $50 federal tax stamp.

The ranch, with a dozen or more girls, is well known in Nevada, where brothels have flourished for years. State Atty. Gen. Harvey Dickerson has advised county officials they are a "public nuisance" under a Nevada Supreme Court decision, but other officials say whether they can operate legally is a matter of local option.

6 Are Arrested When Marijuana Found In Home

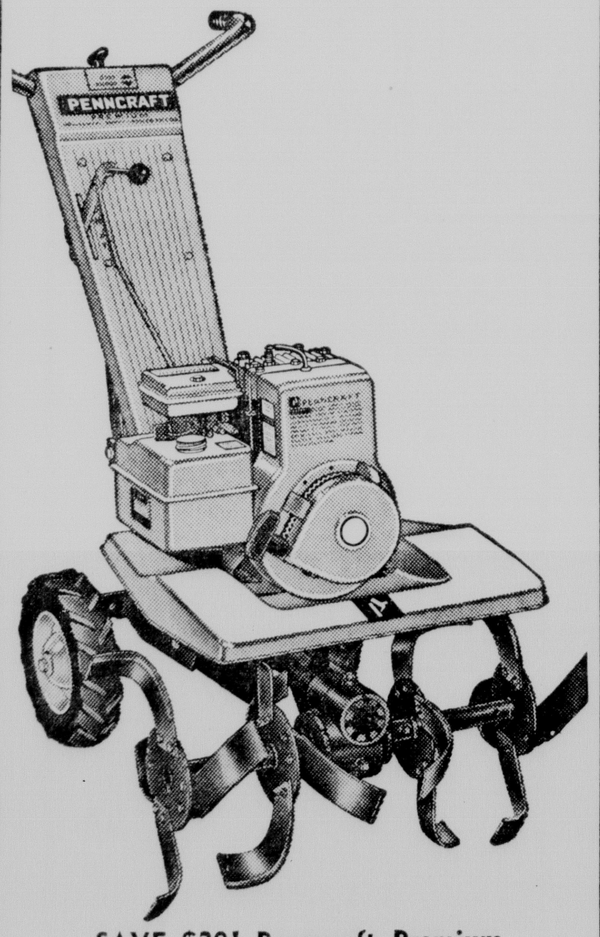

Police arrested six persons early Wednesday after marijuana was found in a Lincoln home, but no charges had been filed against five of them by Wednesday evening.

One of the group, 20-year-old Lee Ann Stovall of 2422 So. 37th, was charged with violation of parole in connection with the incident. She was freed on $1,500 bond.

The six were arrested after officers entered Miss Stovall's home and found a small packet of marijuana in a trash can.

The other five were booked into jail but later released to attorneys.

Fort Worth Jury Gives 800 Years To Young Rapist

Fort Worth, Tex. (UPI) — Samuel Hemphill, 19, convicted of raping an 18-year-old high school coed, was sentenced Wednesday to 800 years in prison.

It was the second huge prison term handed down in the Dallas-Fort Worth area in less than a month by juries concerned with law and order.

Joseph Franklin Sills, 50, was sentenced to 1,000 years in prison by a Dallas jury Feb. 26 for a robbery.

Hemphill's sentence was the longest ever given in the memory of Fort Worth prosecutors.

Despite the lengthy sentence, Hemphill will still be eligible for parole in 20 yaers. If he is a model prisoner, he could be eligible for parole within 10 years after his sentence begins.

The state had qualified the jury on the death penalty.

The rape victim had testified during the trial that Hemphill assaulted her three times.

City Planning Study Of Sheridan Traffic

A request by the Sheridan Blvd. Beautification Association to reclassify Sheridan Blvd. as a residential street was deferred Wednesday for more study by the City-County Planning Commission.

Planning Director Doug Brogden recommended the deferral so his office could work with the State Department of Roads on a traffic study for the area.

Brogden said he wanted to study what the effect would be if Sheridan was closed to through traffic and also if 33rd St. was opened at Antelope Park. He said that the roads department could handle the data within a month or two.

He said a 1969 traffic flow study indicated traffic on the street totaled 5,000 cars a day at Van Dorn St. and 8,000 a day at 33rd St.

Residents appeared before the commission to object to the street's present classification as an arterial street.

One resident said it appeared that city plans "put the car ahead of the person." The time has come, he said, where "people are tired of being pushed around by the car."

Brogden replied that the city encourages new subdivisions to be developed in such a manner that through traffic could not use residential streets. He added that keeping the through traffic out of existing neighborhoods is a difficult problem.

The commission also recommended that the mayor's newly formed urban design and beautification committee review new plans for the lighting along Sheridan Blvd.

Also receiving considerable opposition was a proposed plan to vacate a portion of St. 40th St. from Gertie Ave. south to Nebraska Hwy.

John Hoppe, an area developer protested the street vacation, saying the council earlier lead him to believe the street would not be vacated.

A petition signed by 292 persons, most living in Hoppe Heights, was presented in opposition.

The commission deferred action until next week.

The commissioners also heard a presentation on proposed business zoning on approximately 25 acres located in the vicinity of 66th and Q Sts., sought by O'Shea Ford and Sears Roebuck Co.

Lloyd Hinkley, a real estate agent and former city councilman, told commissioners his clients want business zoning for the entire tract — known as the Sankey Tract — rather that on a portion of the land. Hinkley said the plans for O'Shea Ford to locate its auto dealership at the site would fall through if the western portion of the tract remains zoned for residential use.

In addition to plans for Sears to build its service facility on the tract, a possibility exists that Bankers Life Nebraska might develop the western portion for commercial purposes.

Don Knott, vice president of the mortgage loan and real estate division of Bankers Life, told planning commissioners that his firm is interested in the possibly of using a strip of the land located directly east of the Gateway Shopping Center for commercial use.

Knott said there are several stores at Gateway whose expansion plans would mean that others would have to relocate. He said the stores having to relocate could move to the site and that Hinkey Dinkey, which needs more room at Gateway, could also build a larger store on the land.

He also said that developing land north of Gateway for apartment use no longer appears to be feasible due to increased costs in building and financing and the presence of other developments in the area. Bankers Life already owns the land and has a community unit plan approved for development of the property.

Knott said that should Bankers Life not be able to develop commercial facilities in the Sankey Tract, "we might be back before you asking for commercial zoning on the residentially zoned land proposed for the community unit plan."

Other items given public hearing:

—Change of zone, from A-1 Single Family to H-2 Highway Commercial and H-2 Highway Commercial to A-1 Single Family on property located on So. 14th St. at the Rock Island Railroad overpass, requested by F. Pace Woods Sr. and F. Pace Woods Jr., trustees.

—Change of zone, from A-2 Single Family to D Multiple Dwelling on southwest corner of 67th and Holdrege, requested by Robert Mahoney.

—Change of zone, from D Multiple Dwelling to K Light Industry on property between L and M St. on the east side of 19th St., requested by Al Schwindt and others.

—Change of zone, from A-2 Single Family to K Light Industry on property between Knox and Judson on the west side of Milton Sts., requested by Cubbison Distribution Co.

—Special permit, to construct and operate a child day care center on the southwest corner of 40th and Pioneers, requested by Four Seasons Equity Co.

—Special permit, to construct and operate a parking lot and to establish a new front yard on property bounded by K and L and 17th and 18th Sts., requested by Woodmen Accident and Life Co.

—County special permit, to develop a trailer court on property located on the west side of Hwy. 77, three miles north of Interstate 80, requested by Dale Broekemeier.

"C" MEANS HE CAN DO IT!

Nothing gives a boy more inner strength and pride than in knowing he is doing a worthwhile thing well. His newspaperboy business brings that sort of self-satisfaction and awareness.

There are too few opportunities in our society today for a boy to prove himself. Until he is given a chance to do something constructive on his own, no one can anticipate how he will react. It is heart-warming to see a boy who appears to be shy and unsure of himself suddenly rise to the challenge when he places a newspaper bag over his shoulder.

Once he discovers that he CAN DO IT, he is on the way to success—now—and in later life.

The interest and encouragement of his parents are as important to him as the plaudits of his customers. Let him know, from time to time, how you feel about his efforts.

Recovery Falters In Stock Market

New York (AP) — The stock market turnabout that began Tuesday appeared to have run out of steam at the close of Wednesday's session.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials had closed ahead 2.37 on Tuesday. What gave the market its impetus was President Nixon's announcement he was releasing $1.5 billion in federal funds to aid the slumping construction industry.

The Dow closed Wednesday ahead 0.53 at 767.95.

"The market should have acted better than it did because of what Nixon did Tuesday and because of what Arthur Burns said today," one analyst said.

Federal Reserve Chairman Arthur F. Burns hinted Wednesday that the end of the tight-credit policy, long a market depressant, was in sight.

Volume on the Big Board was under the 10-million share level for the eighth consecutive session. But volume did increase to 9.78 million shares from 9.09 Tuesday.

New 1970 lows were touched by 68 issues and highs by 36.

The Associated Press 60-stock average closed up .4 at 272.1. Industrials were up .3, rails were unchanged, and utilities were up .8. The New York Stock Exchange closing index of some 1,200 common stocks rose 0.13 to 48.80.

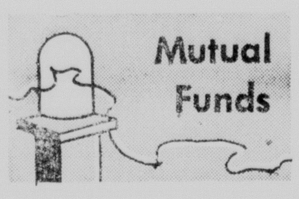

Building materials, druas, and mail-order retail were generally higher. Aircrafts, steels, and rubber issues were generally lower.

Glamour issues were closely lower. Prices of glamours included University Computing, off 1½ at 44⅝; Telex, off 3 at 12¹³⁄₁₆; Control Data, off ⅛ at 64⅞ and IBM, off ¼ at 322¼. Gains were scored by Xeros, up 1 at 92¼, and Polaroid, up ⅜ at 99¼.

Big Board prices included American Motors, up ¾ at 10³⁄₈; Travelers, up 1 at 36; Time Inc., up 2½ at 34½; and Kinney, off 1¼ at 30.

The American Stock Exchange price change index declined .01 to 24.88. Declines outnumbered advances 402 to 392. Volume rose to 2.76 million shares from 2.6 million shares Tuesday.

Amex prices included Masland, off 1⅝ at 9; Savin Business Machines, off 4¼ at 46 and Milgo Electronics, off 1¾ at 62⅛.

Fed Steers, Heifers Up At Omaha

Omaha (AP) — Light marketings, both at terminals and direct from area feedlots kept fed cattle values on the recovery trail here Wednesday.

In somewhat of a forced trade, fed steers and heifers sold 25 to 50 cents higher. Thus, aided by the sharp supply pinch, the market in two sessions has managed to recover a little less than half of the decline which riddled the trade Monday.

Trade opinion was that feeders were holding back what market ready cattle they had in anticipation of further price recovery, possibly next week.

One buyer for a big packer reported that his orders were to "get some cattle," with price a secondary factor.

However, some packers, especially smaller firms, were reportedly curbing operations because of the supply and resultant cost squeeze. While carcass beef prices were being forced a bit higher early Wednesday the trade was very slow, affirming reports that the produce was not moving very readily out of coolers.

Omaha unloads Wednesday ran to around 4,000 head, compared with 4,800 a week ago. The three-day talyy was about even for the two weeks at 16,500. However, 12 market supplies of around 87,000 for the week to date were down from 95,000 in the like period of last week and 114,000 a year ago.

Good demand for cow beef continued to inspire brisk inquiry and prices ruled strong to mostly 25 higher. Bulls also found ready outlet at firm prices. Limited feeder cattle on hand were being held for Friday's auction.

Better light shipping type hogs shook off earlier setbacks and turned steady to 25 cents higher, bulk of the upturn on weights under 230 lbs. Sows trended mostly 25 higher. Good logical packer demand also met with a good midweek shipper inquiry. Supplies were moderate.

Limited outlay of fat lambs looked steady; best woolies scaling 115-125 lbs. noted 25-27. Few butcher ewes 8.50.

House Clears Cigarette Ad Ban; Action Is All But Final

By Frank Eleazer

Washington (UPI) — The House gave all-but-final congressional approval Wednesday to a bill that would outlaw cigarette commercials on radio and television effective Jan. 2.

The bill, which also would require a tougher health warning on all cigarette packages, climaxes a legislative and regulatory fight dating back to 1965. That was when Congress barred government action against cigarette ads while requiring the first health warning on packs.

By voice vote, the House approved the compromise anti-cigarette bill worked out by a House-Senate conference committee, sending it back to the Senate for final routine concurrence in a technical change. The Senate already had approved the compromise bill and no further hitch was in prospect.

No Debate

There was no debate in the House.

Six months after President Nixon signs the bill, it will require this warning on all cigarette packages: "Warning: The surgeon general has determined that cigarette smoking is dangerous to your health." The present package warning, required since 1965, reads: "Caution: cigarette smoking may be hazardous to your health."

The Federal Trade Commission (FTC) reported June 30 that the cigarette industry's 1968 advertising expenditures included $217.2 million on television, $21.3 million on radio and $44.6 million in newspapers and magazines.

Further Warning Eyed

Sen. Frank E. Moss, D-Utah, Senate sponsor of the bill, said if the industry switches its broadcast advertising money to other media, he will "urge and support" FTC imposition of a mandatory health warning in all printed cigarette ads.

The bill would ban regulation of cigarette advertising by state governments, but would free the FTC, effective July 1, 1971, from the prohibition against federal regulation of cigarette advertising which has been in effect since 1965.

The FTC has proposed a warning for all cigarette ads, but indicated it probably would not require it unless cigarette makers increase their advertising in nonbroadcast media.

Hruska Admits Supporting Carswell In Mediocre Way

Washington (AP) — Sen. Roman Hruska, R-Neb., Wednesday conceded he had spoken in praise of Judge G. Harold Carswell in "a rather mediocre way."

Hruska is among the leaders of the fight to win Senate confirmation for Carswell's appointment to the U.S. Supreme Court.

The Nebraska lawmaker tried again Wednesday and told the Senate "there is more than one criterion for requisite qualifications of a member of the Supreme Court.

"Next to integrity," he said, "comes at least average intelligence and . . . common horse sense, both of which Carswell has demonstrated by working his way through college and up to his present position

Nettled by a Washington Post editorial that suggested Hruska favored having a certain number of mediocre judges on the high court, Hruska admitted the high court, Hruska admitted his praise in an off-the-floor chat with reporters Monday had been somewhat "clumsy."

One letter simply stands for another in this example. A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you.
